Endorsement On The Line

On the eve of full scale salary bargaining between representatives of Bay Area hospitals and some 2,500 nurses, the Marin Medical Society came out today in support of the nurses.

The society, which represents 315 Marin doctors, issued a statement through its board of directors, citing actions and statements by nurses that have "effectively brought before the public the fact that the economic status of professional nurses is not proportionate to the contribution that they make to our society."

"We are in complete agreement with this and heartily endorse an adjustment to this inequity and believe that there is broad public support for it."

The statement cautioned nurses "not to be overcome by their newly found bargaining power, but to give due consideration to their responsibilities to their patients lest they lose the sympathy of the public who in the final analysis will pay the bill."

The 2,500 nurses at 33 Bay Area hospitals have submitted two-week notices which would take effect if they are not granted "reasonable" pay hikes.

Negotiating teams for the California Nurses Assn., and the hospitals were expected to return to the bargaining table today in another attempt to head off the mass resignation. State conciliators have been meeting separately with both sides since Friday.

Marin General Hospital nurses are not participating in the Bay Area negotiations, but have agreed to defer their demands for higher pay and improved working conditions pending outcome of the areawide negotiations.

Yesterday, nurses involved in the dispute set up a pool ar-

Pearson Says Frouge Urged Talk To LBJ

Dodd Supposed To Have Sought Federal Leasing

Thomas Frouge, developer of Marincello, appealed to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., in August, 1965, to ask President Johnson "to do something to help us," columnist Drew Pearson has written in a nationally syndicated article.

"Tom, I think this is a great opportunity for you and me," Frouge wrote Sen. Dodd, Pearson claimed. "If we could get the government to lease some space from us—this would mean acceptance by the business world of Marincello as a satellite city to San Francisco.

"I am sure that if this was brought to LBJ's attention he would like the concept and do something to help us. An announcement such as this would be fantastic—it would mean immediate success."

NO RECORD

There was no record that Sen. Dodd spoke to the president, Pearson said, "but Dodd did intercede with the General Services Administration, which rents government office space."

T. E. Hannon, GSA regional administrator, Pearson continued, replied to Dodd from San Francisco on August 27: "There is no present indication that there would be a need for any large blocks of space in Marin County. However, this situation could change and, as Mr. Frouge's development is several years from completion, he was requested to keep us informed, and we will discuss with him any government requirements when his space is available."

LBJ TALK ASKED

In an earlier appeal to Sen. Dodd, in March, 1965, Pearson reported, Frouge said "if a meeting could be arranged with President Johnson as early as possible, it would eliminate any doubt as to our intent and would bear out that we are planning our development to coincide with his discussion on planned communities under the New Society."

Frouge's mention of a "New Society" apparently was a slightly garbled reference to President Johnson's "Great Society."

VIET CONG AGAIN HITS NEAR SAIGON

Reds Rain Mortar Shells On U.S. Infantry Command Post; Driven Off With Napalm

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong unleashed a 90-minute attack with mortars and recoilless rifles tonight on the command post of the U.S. 25th Infantry (Tropical Lightning) Division at Chu Lai, 18 miles northwest of Saigon.

The enemy weapons finally fell silent under the counterfire of American artillery and fiery napalm loosed by four U.S. Air Force F-100 Super Sabres on the suspected gun sites. A U.S. spokesman said American casualties were very light. He had no immediate word on Viet Cong losses.

Elsewhere in the South, fighting slackened during the day, but U.S. airmen flew over typhoon winds and through monsoon rains to pound Communist targets north and south of the border.

The guerrillas struck nine times in the Saigon area Monday, shelling and machine-gunning government militia posts and a refugee relocation center.

More than 400 miles north of Saigon, U.S. Marines pursued the hunt for the battered survivors of the first full North Vietnamese division sent south, but made no contact with the slippery foe. Backtracking across the nearby 17th Parallel border or westward toward Laos, the Communists left behind 736 dead, the Marines reported.

Pilots reported half a dozen surface-to-air missiles were sent up against them around Hanoi, but no American losses were reported north of the border.

U.S. Frowns On War Talk By Gen. Ky

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States disassociated itself today from a call by South Viet Nam's premier for a military confrontation now with Communist China.

A State Department spokesman declared: "Our position of not seeking any wider war has been repeatedly made clear and remains our position."

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky had proposed in an interview that it is better to face the Red Chinese "right now than in 5 or 10 years." He also suggested an allied invasion of North Viet Nam to smash the source of Communist aggression against South Viet Nam.

Ky's remarks brought a storm of objection in the Senate today. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield called on the Johnson administration to disassociate itself from the Ky declarations.

The administration decided, it was learned, to deal as softly as possible with what was clearly a sharp division between the policy line projected by the South Vietnamese leader and the policies being followed by President Johnson.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey told a news conference in response to questions that he did not want to comment directly on Ky's statement, but then added: "I would say our position of not seeking any wider war has been repeatedly made clear and remains our position. We do not threaten any regime."

Speck Indicted On Eight Counts

CHICAGO (AP) — Eight indictments charging murder were returned by the Cook County (Chicago) grand jury today against Richard Speck, 24, held in the mass killing of eight nurses.

The indictments, voted after hearing police and medical witnesses yesterday, were presented to Judge Edward F. Healhy who is acting chief justice of the criminal division of Circuit Court.

John Stamos, assistant state's attorney who accompanied the 23 grand jurors on the 25-yard walk from the jury room to the courtroom, told newsmen there were eight indictments and each charged murder.

Fire Conditions In Sierra Worsen

RENO (AP) — Fire conditions in the Sierra are far worse than last year, U. S. forest rangers said today.

"The forest is so dry that any little spark could touch it off," said Ward Wyman, fire control officer of the Lake Valley District in El Dorado National Forest at Myers, Calif.

A vast area from the Oregon border to below Yosemite National Park is vulnerable.

High winds swept the Tahoe Basin yesterday and thunder returned to the area after a few days of relative calm, increasing the fire hazard, the Forest Service said.

Strike Costly

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The airline strike is costing San Francisco $1 million a day, the Down Town Assn. estimated today.

Milk Cost Up By Half-Cent Next Month

Hard on the heels of the recent jump in bread and ice cream prices today came the prospect of another leap in food costs—milk is going to cost the Marin housewife more next week.

Starting Aug. 1, regular homogenized milk will cost 26 cents a quart, or 51 cents half a gallon. Current prices are 25 and one half cents a quart, 50 cents for half a gallon.

State agriculture director Charles Paul announced the first statewide milk price boost in seven years, "caused by higher production costs and shorter supplies." The price increase was granted after a series of hearings conducted by the State Agriculture Department's Bureau of Milk Stablization.

While generally throughout the state, bottled milk prices will increase one cent a quart, only one half a cent of the increase will go to dairy farmers. The remainder will go to the middleman who processes and distributes the milk.

According to Manuel Medeiros, Petaluma dairy farmer and president of Associated Dairymen of Oakland and Sacramento, farmers consider the state's action as "unrealistic and inadequate."

"Dairy farmers have been holding the line on inflation since 1959 with no increases in their prices for fluid milk . . . it is quite evident that state milk bureau officials are going to continue their policy of starvation prices to dairy farmers to cover other increased costs to consumers."

He said dairy farmers actually receive only 11 cents a quart from milk costing 25 cents retail.

Liquid milk prices are controlled by the state, and vary in different areas. For instance, Marin is in Redwood Zone Four and present prices are already higher than San Francisco, which is in the Central Coast Zone. Milk in San Francisco presently costs 48 cents half a gallon. This will jump to 50 cents in the city next week.

Ocean Hunt Widens For Lost Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pacific Ocean air-sea search for a missing C-47 aircraft with Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr. aboard has expanded to cover an area of 105,000 square miles.

Stilwell, 54, commander of the U.S. Army's Green Beret troop training center, was copilot of the plane, en route to Thailand for use by that country's air force. The plane was last heard from early Sunday, about 500 miles out in the Pacific.

The plane's pilot was Hal Grimes, 45, a personal friend of the general and president of Air Ferry International of Pacific Palisades.

Grimes radioed Sunday that one engine had failed and the plane was returning to San Francisco. A Coast Guard plane sent to accompany the crippled aircraft arrived two hours later but found no trace of the plane.

The 41st Aerospace and Recovery Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base has four HU-16 rescue planes out aiding in the search for General Stilwell's plane.

Christopher Kin To Assist Brown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — George Maneras, San Francisco, a cousin of George Christopher, today was named statewide field director of Californians for Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Maheras, a Republican, was appointed by the cochairmen of the organization, Bert Levit and William Brinton of San Francisco, and C. M. Gilliss, Los Angeles.

Three-Zone Plan For Point Reyes

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON—The National Park Service proposes $57.5 million federal appropriation that calls for a three-zone development of Point Reyes National Seashore, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, diclosed today.

Clausen said he and Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., were briefed on the plan today by George Hartzog, director of the National Park Service. The Hartzog proposal will be presented tomorrow during a meeting of the Senate Interior subcommittee.

Tomorrow's meeting will be a hearing on the Kuchel-Clausen bill, which asks for an increase of the Point Reyes Seashore appropriation from the original $14 million to $44.9 million.

The National Park Service's new recommendation calls for three categories of land use:

1. Public development of 15,200 acres. This would include roads, campgrounds, information centers, marinas, and administration and maintenance facilities.

2. Preservation zone of 13,000 acres, to preserve natural, historic, scenic and scientific features of public interest. Only minor developments such as trails will be placed in this zone.

3. Private development of 25,650 acres. Compatible private uses such as ranching and dairying and properly spaced residential sites would be allowed. Also envisaged are a golf course, small shopping center, and housing developments in selected areas.

Hartzog said the National Park Service plans to negotiate with private owners to see if they will give a scenic easement to the federal government to preserve the above plan.

If not, the government would buy the private lands and either sell or lease them back to de-

Guards Shot In Holdup

BOSTON (UPI) — Two Brink's guards were machine-gunned and wounded in a hospital driveway today in the second armored car holdup in greater Boston in four days. Police said the gunmen fled with at least $60,000.

The guards, not identified immediately, were carried quickly into the hospital and underwent emergency treatment.

Today was payday at the hospital and the armored truck was delivering money to cash the checks, officials said.

The daring holdup took place directly in front of the main entrance of the Veterans Hospital.

On Friday, four rubber masked bandits, three of them brandishing machineguns, robbed a Brink's truck of $131,000 in Bedford, 18 miles west of here. The bandits escaped after disarming four guards.

Wreck Near Chico

James Lavaroni, former market owner of San Anselmo, and three other persons in another car were killed yesterday in a head-on collision on Highway 99E 15 miles south of Chico.

Lavaroni's wife, Charlotte Bernadotte, survived the fiery crash and was taken to the Medical Arts Center Hospital in Oroville, where she was reported in fair condition today.

The others killed, all of Portland, Ore., were Mrs. Ruth M. Hopkins, 43; her daughter, Kelly Maureen, 7, and her mother Mrs. Violet Hart, 65. Mrs. Hopkins' husband, Gerald, 37, and another daughter, Kimberlie Diane, 8, were reported in critical condition.

The California Highway Patrol quoted a witness as saying Lavaroni's car drifted across the center line into the path of the Oregon car, which burst into flames after the crash. Passers-

Airline Strike Bill Hearings Delayed A Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate hearing on legislation to halt the 19-day airline strike was postponed today for 24 hours.

The Senate Labor Committee agreed to the delay sought by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

One senator said he thought the request originated at the White House.

TO READY CASE

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Wirtz relayed to the committee a request for postponement to give the administration more time to prepare its case.

The committee agreed to the one-day delay, until 1:30 p.m. tomorrow, little more than an hour before it was to have taken testimony on the impact of the walkout which had grounded five major airlines.

Delay had been indicated earlier by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., an advocate of fast action.

The hearing had been set to take administration testimony on the impact of the strike. That would pave the way for a decision on whether the strike constitutes an emergency warranting congressional intervention.

MANSFIELD VIEWS

In advance of the indication of delay, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he believes the stoppage has created a national emergency requiring congressional intervention.

The Montana senator said he assumes President Johnson feels the same way.

But Mansfield told newsmen he doubts the Senate will act on any strike-stopping legislation before Thursday.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he thinks the Senate should act tomorrow on his bill to halt the walkout for six months —with provision for new congressional action if labor and management do not reach a contract agreement in 150 days.

Morse had tried for even faster action.

British Steel Nationalization Gains

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons voted approval last night of the Labor government's bill to nationalize Britain's steel industry as the Conservatives mounted an attack on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's handling of the national economy.

The measure, approved by a vote of 328-247 on its second reading, would nationalize the 14 big companies which supply 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

Final passage is expected late this year, although the Conservatives may try to delay it by pressing for a procedure that would permit each company involved to present testimony against the bill.

Anthony Barber, Conservative spokesman on steel, repeated the opposition argument that the bill is irrelevant to Britain's economic problems. Barber said the Conservatives would return steel to private ownership if they regain power. But he added a new qualification, saying they would drop state ownership "to whatever extent is necessary and practicable."

Barber declared that Britain's steel industry needs more competition, not less. Power Minister Richard Marsh countered that steel exports and productivity have been on the decline while imports of raw materials have been going up. The only way to reverse this trend, he asserted, is for the government to take over and reorganize the industry.

MYSTERIOUS NEW KILLER

Scientists Puzzling Over Mass Deaths Of Heavy Beer Drinkers

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Journal of the American Medical Assn. Monday reported a new disease, which has apparently proven fatal in some 37 cases.

The doctors—for want of a better word — are calling it "beer drinkers' heart disease," because it appears that excessive consumption of beer is implicated in the deaths.

The symptoms of the new heart disease were first observed in a number of cases in Quebec last August. Twenty persons died, before the rare disease disappeared as abruptly as it had appeared.

Then the heart disease reappeared in Omaha and in Minneapolis. In Omaha, one person died; in Minneapolis, 16.

Health officials in Canada and the United States indicated they had no direct evidence that beer drinking is responsible for the disease, except that all the victims drank between three to seven quarts of beer daily.

Some officials theorized that addition of cobalt to the brew might have something to do with the ailment.

British Lords Revamp Rules Of Precedent

LONDON (AP) — The House of Lords, Britain's court of last resort, announced today that it is abandoning "the binding force of precedent" in certain circumstances in order to make English law more flexible and up-to-date.

The announcement — made by Lord Gardiner, the lord chancellor — was described by some experts as a legal bombshell expected to have wide repercussions in British Commonwealth countries and possibly in the United States, where English common law forms the basis of the legal system.

The lords ruled that, while they exempted themselves from the legal principles of previous similar cases, the rule of precedent still is binding on Britain's lower courts.

The doctrine of "binding precedent" has reigned supreme in the House of Lords for 68 years. It meant that the lords, Britain's top appellate body, in giving decisions in civil and criminal appeals on important points of law were bound by the legal principles of previous similar cases.

Henceforth, Gardiner announced, the lords reserve — for themselves alone — the right to depart from previous decisions "when it appears right to do so."

Gardiner also has teams working on a general modernization of the British legal code.

College Grade Delays Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A local draft board chairman has complained that two colleges here are not cooperating with the Selective Service in classification of students.

James F. Allen, chairman of local Board 40, said yesterday "We feel that students are being ill-advised." He cited San Francisco State College and San Francisco City College.

Allen charged that college officials were not supplying grade standings of students who seek deferment. A spokesman for San Francisco State said the faculty of the college objects to use of grade standings in classifying students for the draft. He said students are advised to send a transcript of their grades to the draft board.

A City College spokesman said the school was trying to cooperate with the draft board but that compiling class standings was a big job and there were some delays.

Two Fairgoers Killed As Midget Racer Runs Wild

OTTAWA, Ohio. (AP) — The annual Putnam County Fair ended last night with screams and near-panic when a midget racing car crashed a fence, killing two teen-age spectators and injuring at least seven other persons.

Thousands were at the fairgrounds race track when the accident occurred as the final night of the six-day fair drew toward a close.

The racer driven by Jan Heely of Battle Creek, Mich., attempting to avoid another car that had skidded, rammed the fence.

Charles Horstman, 19, was killed instantly. He suffered a skull fracture. Gary D. Burden, 18, was dead on arrival at a Lima hospital.

Another seven persons were taken to St. Rita's Hospital in Lima, 20 miles away. Five were admitted, one in serious condition.

Heely was among them, with head and facial injuries.

Witnesses said one of the youths killed had been sitting atop concrete enclosing a men's rest room but jumped down into the car's path as it slammed into a section where spectators were standing about 250 feet south of the filled grandstand.

The other victim was rolled up in the woven-wire fence as the runaway car tore down some 100 feet of it before going on through and hitting a power pole.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Campaign Charges Unanswered

NEW YORK (AP)—An aide to Sen. Thomas Dodd says the Connecticut Democrat sees no reason to reply to an article contending that a Senate investigating committee has evidence that $350,000 in campaign funds he collected over a three-year period went for other purposes.

Dodd

The aide said yesterday there would be no response to the charge in the current issue of Newsweek magazine that Dodd took in $500,000 in campaign funds from November 1961 to March 1965 and spent only $150,000 of it for actual campaigning. The aide suggested that Dodd thought of the money raised at testimonial dinners not so much as "campaign contributions," but more as "personal gifts."

The figures, according to Newsweek, came from records in Dodd's own files, removed by former members of the senator's staff and handed over to the Committee on Standards and Conduct.

There was evidence, the magazine said, that Dodd paid $8,500 he owed a ghost writer, a $5,500 air travel account and liquor bills at the Congressional Country Club with campaign contributions.

Inflation, Taxes Wipe Out Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The average American lost $10 in purchasing power during the three months that ended June 30. Inflation and higher taxes more than wiped out income gains.

The government said yesterday that the loss over purchasing power in January, February and March amounted to a drop in per capita income from $2,287 to $2,277.

Higher withholding and other taxes and the adjustment for inflation's higher prices were the major factors in the drop, according to President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

In a June 30 speech at Des Moines, Johnson said Americans had been outrunning inflation because incomes had risen faster than prices. He was talking about the last five years.

During the last 12 months, while incomes have continued to advance, prices have risen at a much faster rate. The result was the man in the street has had to run faster to stay ahead. In the second quarter he fell behind.

Wheat Stock Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. wheat stockpile, drained during the past year by heavy demands such as emergency shipments to India, has dropped to its lowest level since 1952. The Agriculture Department said yesterday that wheat stocks as of July 1 amounted to 536 million bushels. This is a decline of about one-third from a year earlier.

AMELIA EARHART
Pacific mystery revived

Newsmen Say Aviatrix Died As U.S. Spy

NAPA (AP)—Amelia Earhart, the aviatrix whose mysterious disappearance in the South Pacific gained her a place in American folk history, died as a U.S. spy on a Japanese-held island, according to a copyrighted newspaper story.

The Napa Register said yesterday that the pioneer woman flier was captured by the Japanese on Saipan in 1937 while she completed an intelligence mission to inspect and photograph fortifications on Pacific islands.

BODIES RETURNED

Her body and that of navigator Frederick Noonan were secretly returned to the United States in 1944, according to the report. The newspaper said Miss Earhart died of dysentery and Noonan was beheaded.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said its files showed no evidence Miss Earhart was on an intelligence mission or that she was captured by the Japanese.

The official version of Miss Earhart's disappearance is that her plane apparently went down someplace between Lae, New Guinea, and Howland Island, on the first leg of a flight to Honolulu and Oakland.

The Register said it based its conclusion that Miss Earhart was on an espionage mission upon scrutiny of "classified files in the Department of the Navy and the Department of State."

The report cited "scores of natives" on the island who told newsman Frederick Goerner of radio station KCBS in San Francisco of a white man and woman being held captive by the Japanese. Goerner launched the investigation in 1960 and was joined by the Register three years ago.

HOW THEY DIED

One woman was quoted as saying: "The woman the Japanese called the flier died of dysentery. She could not be helped. The man who came to the island with her was executed several days after her death. The Japanese beheaded him with a Samurai sword."

According to the Register, two former U.S. Marines, Everett Henson Jr. of Sacramento, and Billy Burks, now living in Texas, found the remains of two bodies on the island in 1944.

When they asked a supervising officer "what are we looking for," the newspaper said, he replied, "Have you ever heard of Amelia Earhart?"

Halted Cars Cause Chain Collision

Five persons were slightly hurt in a five-car chain reaction collision on Highway 101 near Alto overcrossing at 9:55 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said Margaret A. Johnson, 54, of 334 Bolling Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, and Charlene M. Nagel, 16, of 591 Thyme Place, San Rafael, had stopped their cars in heavy northbound traffic.

Other cars, driven by Bonita T. Harrington, 41, of 132 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, Byron E. Harper, 29, of Petaluma and Andrew C. Vireno, 52, of 21 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, failed to stop in time, the patrol reported.

Harper, his wife, Louise, 30, and stepson, Michael H. Pelton, 11, were treated at the base hospital for cuts and bruises. Mrs. Johnson and her passenger, Ethel Harris, complained of chest pains and a forehead bump.

Jury Trial Set Oct. 31 For Two Marin City Boys

Jury trial for two Marin City youths charged with assault on a sheriff's officer was scheduled today in Marin Superior Court for Oct. 31.

One other indictment count against each of the defendants, Philip Craig Scott, 19, and Daniel J. Hayden, 18, however, were dismissed today by Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Dismissed against Hayden, of 77 Buckeley Street, was a count of assaulting Deputy B. M. Wallace. The count dismissed against Scott of 50 Cole Drive, was assault on Deputy Raymond Von Savoye. Judge Wilson ruled there was insufficient testimony in the preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court to hold the pair.

The remaining count charges both youths with felony assault on Deputy Richard Keaton. The alleged affray occurred in Marin City June 17.

Dismissal motion was made by Benjamin Dreyfus, attorney for Scott.

Almonte Sanitary District Has Budget

Almonte sanitary district directors last night adopted a fiscal 1967 budget of $24,210 and agreed to attempt to hold the present tax rate of 41 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Chairman Robert A. Alexander said it is expected to remain the same or drop lower. Last year's budget was $25,665.

Alexander was re-elected chairman of the board for a third term and Richard J. Dawe was re-elected secretary.

Shotgun, Vibrator, Pipe Wrench Stolen

Theft of a shotgun, a vibrator, and a pipe wrench in a burglary of a house at 241 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

The owner, Jessie Stetson, 931 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, told deputies the vacant house was entered via a rear door by breaking window panes.

NURSES

rangement to provide nurses in case of emergencies and established a fund to pay living expenses for nurses who resign.

Negotiator for the California Nurses Assn., Ralph Hartley, said yesterday the nurses might be willing to reduce their first salary demands. Now earning $440 to $510 a month, they had asked increases to $643 to $782.

Hartley said raises "to a level of $620 to $690 would add only $4 a day to the daily cost per patient." He said: "This salary level would approach CNA's latest proposal."

Laurence Corbett, representing the hospitals, said the institutions were "in agreement that there is an inequity in the compensation of nurses." But, he added, in as much as a current contract has not expired, the nurses should accept a $60 increase previously offered on "an interim basis . . . so that a sound and well studied adjustment can be made" when the present pact expires.

Corbett said nurses' salaries are recognized as a nationwide problem and whatever agreement is reached in the Bay Area will in all probability have a far-reaching influence on hospital costs throughout the country.

Hospital administrators are also faced with wage increase demands from other employees. Local No. 250 of the Hospital and Institutional Workers, representing vocational nurses and aides, orderlies, janitors and others, has requested negotiation about raising their current pay level of $2 to $2.11 an hour.

In 10 Northern California counties, some 500 nurses have retained an attorney to help them negotiate for higher pay. Yuba City lawyer Malcom Misaraca said he has been hired by the nurses. They are not planning a strike, but will meet Thursday to discuss further action.

Man Treated For Overdose

Thomas Jesse Lemmons, 26-year-old traansient charged in Marin Municipal Court with three misdemeanors in a two-car traffic accident on July 16, was admitted last night to Marin General Hospital for treatment of an apparent overdose of drugs.

Hospital attendants described his condition as "fair."

Lemmons, found in a parking lot of Santa Venetia Market, told sheriff's officers he took about 90 pills. He had been transferred to Napa State Hospital about July 18 after an unsuccessful attempt to escape from Marin County Jail. He reportedly tried three times to hang himself in the jail.

Bench warrants on charges of drunken driving, driving while under the influence of mixed drugs and alcohol, and hit-run have been issued in the municipal court.

Hub Council Faces Recruiting Decision

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt of San Anselmo will recommend to the city council when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall that it have the state personnel board recruit a man to replace him when he resigns Dec. 31.

The council will also consider the proposed widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Tunstead Avenue to Bolinas Avenue with the accompanying change of San Anselmo Avenue to a one-way street. The proposal was met with disfavor by 50 merchants at a special council meeting last week.

House Is Entered, Owner Locked Out

Someone entered her house while she was away yesterday and locked her out of it, Lorraine Selma Cleland, 53, of 1139 Fourth Street, Novato, told Novato police last night.

Mrs. Cleland said she left about 1 p.m. and locked the front door. When she returned at 3:20 p.m., the inside chain lock on the door had been set, stopping her from entering her own house. Someone had forced the door into the kitchen from the garage, leaving by a back bathroom window, police reported. Nothing was taken.

Marijuana Complaint Dismissed

Complain of selling marijuana was dismissed yesterday against one of two defendants on trial in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner dismissed the action against Ronald Keith Maska, 29, of Orange County, on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Dufficy. Dufficy said insufficien evidence was cause for the dismissal.

Maska, however, was scheduled to testify this afternoon as a state's witness in the continuing trial of the co-defendant, Peter Wright Lenihan, 31, of 420 B. Street, Sausalito.

The pair, along with a third defendant, Wilhelm Alexander Rossknecht, 27, of Holland, were arrested as part of a June, 1965, roundup of suspected marijuana users and sellers by Marin County and state law enforcement officers in Southern Marin.

Rossknecht, now in Holland, cannot be extradited, according to Dufficy.

Jerrp Van Damm, state narcotics agent, testified yesterday that he and other narcotic agents purchased a lorge quantity of the weed from Lenihan and Rossknecht.

Attendant Still Being Sought

Robert L. Hernandez, 25-year-old San Rafael service station attendant, was still being sought by police today for questioning in connection with a knifing and the disappearance of a car over the weekend.

Hernandex was identified from photographs Sunday by William D. Williits as the man who gashed Willitts' arm with a knife Saturday night during an argument over a traffic incident at Belvedere Street and Medway Road.

The knifer was driving a car said by San Rafael car dealer Leslie J. Hancock to have been borrowed by Hernandez Friday and long overdue to be returned to the lot at 439 Francisco Boulevard.

Woman Treated For Cut Wrist

Judith Ann Wells, 26, was reported in good condition today at Ross General Hospital following treatment shortly after 2 a.m. at Marin General Hospital for a cut wrist.

San Rafael police reported the wound was self-inflicted. They said Mrs. Wells had described herself as despondent since her separation from her husband, Michael Wells.

Mrs. Wells was found in the bedroom of her apartment at 124 Park Street by Thomas A. Goldberg, 18, of the same building. Goldberg told police he heard her fall.

Quick Leg Work Nabs Suspect

Quick leg work by Mill Valley police yesterday resulted in the nabbing of a 14-year-old Marin City boy believed to be one of three who sole a transistor radio from Walt's Radio and TV Repair at 384 Miller Avenue.

Owner Walter I. Kiesling reported to police that at 1:45 p.m. there boys came into his shop, one of them taking the radio, valued at $17. Patrolman Peter Brindley saw a boy running on Ethel Lane, then saw him try to hide something in the brush.

The boy was brought to the shop where he was identified by Kiesling as one of the trio. Police later found the radio in the brush. The boy was reprimanded and released.

Youths Organize Pro-Young Group

An organizational meeting of the Young Citizens for Pearce Young Committee will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at 12 Chateau Place, San Rafael.

Richard Raznikov of San Rafael, who called the meeting, said the committee will help Assemblyman Young, D-Napa and Solano, in his campaign for the state Senate seat in District 4 (Marin, Napa and Solano).

FATALS

by pulled the survivors from the wreckage.

Lavaroni, 68, was born in San Francisco, but had spent all his life since early boyhood in Marin County and was a long time resident of San Anselmo.

He and his brother, Charles Lavaroni, of San Rafael, owned and operated Lavaroni's Market (now Center Market) at 1119 San Anselmo Avenue from 1917 to 1955.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavaroni's home is at 18 Hampton Avenue, near that of their son, James J. Lavaroni of 11 Hampton Avenue.

Lavaroni's nephew, Charles Lavaroni Jr., of San Anselmo, is a former superintendent of the Sausalito School District, and has accepted a post as school principal this fall with the San Anselmo district.

In addition to his wife, son and brother, Lavaroni is survived by a sister, Maude Francke of San Rafael, and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Beating Will Be Investigated

Sheriff's inspectors today planned to talk with Patricia A. Noland, 28-year-old Gate Five woman hospitalized Sunday after an apparent beating in her houseboat.

Officers said they want to determine if a complaint should be filed, and to also talk with an acquaintance of Miss Noland's whom she allegedly named as her assailant. The acquaintance, however, reportedly left Marin County late Sunday.

Her condition was described today as "fair."

Tunisians Tour San Quentin

Maj. El Ajmi Hedili, Lt. Mahmoud Essaiem and Lt. Chadli Layouni were accompanied on the tour by a State Department interpreter.

Maj. Hedili explained that he wanted to visit the prison because he had read Caryl Chessman's book. He and the lieutenants have been touring the San Francisco Police Department.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park reported the major was "impressed with the good order and cleanliness of San Quentin.

Tunisia has no riots or demonstrations, the major told Park, "just the usual assortment of crimes."

Tam Valley Garbage Pickup Calls Asked

Tamalpais Valley residents will not be inconvenienced in their garbage collections, Gale F. Bishel, board president of Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, promised today. Bishel urged anyone who had been missed to telephone the district office at 305 Bell Lane.

Service to 500 residents was cut off Friday by Mill Valley Refuse Service after the district board had approved a contract to start Oct. 1 with Henry's Service, Stinson Beach. Henry's Service is now collecting garbage for those 500 residents.

Boys Douse Driver

Ralph Sardanski of 21 Central Avenue, Sausalito, complained to Corte Madera police yesterday that boys in another car threw some water in his face as he drove west on Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard. He gave police the license number of their car.

Irish Conflict Brings Forth Parade Ban

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A three-month ban on public processions went into effect today as the government tried to quiet bitter Protestant-Catholic controversy that led to weekend rioting.

The ban, effective for 15 miles around Belfast City Hall, was ordered by the Cabinet of Northern Ireland last night. A Cabinet statement said gatherings of three or more people considered "likely to cause a breach of the peace" are prohibited.

Police used clubs and water hoses over the weekend to quell mobs protesting the jailing of the Rev. Ian Paisley, 40, a Protestant extremist who claims there is a plot to sell out Northern Ireland to Roman Catholicism. He is serving three months in jail for unlawful assembly.

Novato City Hall Additions Asked

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended to the city council that it spend $4,400 for exterior improvements and $3,020 for interior decorations to the Novato Community House.

These recommendations will go to the Novato city council when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

Mrs. Bea Carpenter had submitted a plan for redecorating the interior of the building. Cost of the materials for the project is $3,020 and the work will be donated by various civic organizations, according to Mrs. Carpenter's plan.

ese militia force of 30 men fought off three times that number of Viet Cong early today.

The Viet Cong called off the attack when a flare plane lit up the predawn darkness. The platoon defending the hamlet of Kien Phong sustained only a few casualties, a spokesman said.

A U.S. Air Force F-100 Super Sabre jet fighter was shot down by the guerrillas 20 miles outside of Saigon, raising to 118 the number of American planes lost in combat in the South, exclusive of helicopters. The pilot was rescued.

The Buddhist leadership reminded the military regime that some of the politically minded monks remained dissatisfied with the generals' pledge to put the country on the road to civilian rule with an election for a constitution-drafting assembly Sept. 17.

The acting chairman of the Buddhist Institute, Thich (venerable) Thien Hoa, called on the faithful to abandon immolation as a method of protest, adding however that fiery suicides had not ended the tribulations of Buddhism.

Thien Hoa succeeded to the political leadership of the 2-million-member Unified Buddhist Church when the institute chairman, Thich Tam Chau, decided to take a leave of absence for health reasons when he failed to win wholehearted support of his policy of moderation.

Transient Admits Passing Forged Check

Donni Noll Fitzpatric, 22, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to one count of forgery. Judge Leonard A. Thomas then certified the case to Marin Superior Court for further proceedings.

A second count of forgery was dismissed following the plea, which came just prior to a scheduled preliminary hearing for the defendant. Fitzpatric, a transient, passed a forged $15.60 check Feb. 12 at Modern Eve Shop, 1417 Grant Avenue, Novato.

Syria, Israel Again Swap Aggression Charges In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Syria and Israel swapped charges of aggression again yesterday as they brought rival complaints before the U.N. Security Council.

Syrian Ambassador George J. Tomeh told the 15-nation council an Israeli air strike against Syrian installations July 14 was "naked aggression." He warned that Syria could no longer remain passive "no matter what the cost."

Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay countered that Israel ordered the strike in reprisal for "continual Syrian violence against Israel's population and territory."

The latest clash was set off by the long dispute between Israel and the Arab states over diversion of the Jordan River's waters.

MILK

Bureau of Milk Stablization said today that in conjunction with the half cent increase granted to producers, "as a result of hearings held in the Bay Area to consider distributors' costs, an additional half cent increase was granted for the minimum price in all of the Bay Area market."

Bread prices jumped two cents a loaf last week, with bakers claiming higher costs of ingredients as the cause. Prices of ice cream and cottage cheese increased too, with this raise blamed on higher government support prices for powdered milk.

Total cost of the entire purchase is estimated at $57.5 million. Hartzog estimated that the sell-back would bring about $8 million and the lease-back provisions will bring about $82,000 per year.

"Personally, I think it (the National Park Service plan) has some interesting aspects," said Clausen. "But before offering my full endorsement, I will want to check with the Marin board of supervisors, landowners to be affected and various conservation groups who promoted the seashore.

"It is regrettable that the report comes so late in the session, but we are going to press for early priorities on the hearing schedule because of the obvious need to finalize this project. As I've said before, the Point Reyes Seashore continues to be my first priority conservation project in the district."

Committee Cuts Off Capitol Front Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has ordered Capitol Architect J. George Stewart not to use any of the money for his office to complete a controversial plan to extend the west front of the Capitol.

The committee voted unanimously yesterday for the halt in spending pending an independent study of the cost of shoring-up and restoring the present structure without changing its general appearance.

Ross Council To Meet

A special meeting of Ross Town Council will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow to discuss changes in the tentative budget for fiscal 1967. Tentative tax rate is $1.54, up 27 cents over fiscal 1965.

OBITUARIES

T. A. Attell Services Set

Funeral services for Theodore A. Attell, a San Rafael resident who died Sunday, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at Sinai Memorial Chapel, Divisadero and Geary streets, San Francisco.

Services will be under the auspices of Lebanon Lodge 495, Free and Accepted Masons, of which Attell was a life member.

Attell was a native of San Francisco and for many years operated a jewelry store there.

A resident of Marin County for 21 years, he owned Attell's Furniture store in Sausalito for about 10 years until a year ago. At the time of his death, he was manager of the jewelry department for J. C. Penney and Co. in San Francisco.

He lived with his wife and three sons, Coleman H., Mervyn E. and Roland P. Attell, at 400 Canal Street. Attell is also survived by a sister, Viola Bellach of San Rafael, and a brother, Alvin F. Attell of Mountain View.

Burial will be at Salem Memorial Park, Colma. Contributions to the Heart Fund are preferred.

MRS. WEBSTER

Private funeral services for Mrs. Caroline H. Webster, 95, formerly of Mill Valley, were held yesterday.

Mrs. Webster died Thursday at a local convalescent hospital following a long illness.

A native of Keokuk, Iowa, she lived in California for 90 years, 75 in Sierra Madre, Los Angeles County, and 15 in Mill Valley.

She is survived by two sons, Marvin and Robert Webster, both of Mill Valley.

MRS. WATKINS

Private funeral services for Mrs. Jane E. Watkins of Mill Valley were held Monday in San Francisco.

Mrs. Watkins, 69, died unexpectedly Thursday at Franklin Hospital in San Francisco, where she worked as a nurse's aide.

She is survived by her husband, Ronald George Watkins, and a son, Henry George Watkins of San Jose.

Her family asked that contributions be made to the Knights Templar Eye Fund in San Francisco.

EARL HENRY

Earl Henry, 55, of Portland, Ore. died today in a local hospital of a heart attack.

He and his wife, Ida Mae and daughter, Carol, had diven to Novato last Friday to attend a wedding when he was stricken.

They were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hershel G. Temple of 1420 Park Court, Novato.

Publisher Sues Elliott Roosevelt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $1.54 million suit charging civil conspiracy and false representation has been filed against Elliott Roosevelt, mayor of Miami Beach., Fla., and son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The suit, concerning a deal to buy an apartment building, was filed yesterday by magazine publisher Robert E. Petersen, 39, whose firm prints "Hot Rod," "Teen" and "Skin Diving."

Petersen's suit charges that in 1964 Roosevelt told him he could arrange a loan of $7.5 million from Teamsters Union pension fund for purchase of the Pacific Plaza in nearby Santa Monica.

For arranging the loan, Petersen alleged, Roosevelt was to receive $150,000 and a Mercedes Benz automobile.

Roosevelt's claim of having a commitment from pension fund trustees for the loan, Petersen charged, was untrue, and the deal fell through. Roosevelt, Petersen said, refused to return $75,000 he had been given as part of the brokerage fee.

Petersen is seeking $1 million punitive damages and $545,000 for his claimed loss of profits.

Counterfeit Ring Draws Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three men were sentenced to federal prison and a fourth placed on probation yesterday for their roles in a counterfeit money ring which made more than $1 million in bogus bills.

Sam D. Dodge, 33, was given a 10-year term by U. S. District Judge William T. Sweigert. Edmond Hatley, 26, and Kenneth Darnell, 39, were each sentenced to three years behind bars.

The fourth defendant, Eddie Boone, 28, was placed on five years probation.

Dodge and his uncle, J. D. Dodge, 45, were named by Secret Service agents as the ringleaders. The older Dodge is under indictment in Memphis, Tenn., for attempting to sell counterfeit plates.

The five men, all from Steele, Mo., were arrested Feb. 16 after some of the bills were passed. Agents said the bills were "passably good twenties."

San Rafael Citizen Slaps At Exclusive Garbage Pact

A San Rafael resident has urged the city council to reject a proposed garbage collection ordinance "to protect the citizens of San Rafael not to sell them into the monthly ransom of the garbage man."

The proposed ordinance will come before the council for adoption Monday. It would require residents to have all "wet garbage" removed by the licensed city garbage collector, Marin Sanitary Service.

'CAPTIVE MARKET'

In a letter of protest to the council, Jack A. Mumy of 17 Wolfe Avenue said the proposed ordinance would do more damage than good. "Not the least of which is the sale of the entire residential population of San Rafael to the garbage collector as a captive market," he said.

Mumy said the section that allows the council to designate the "official refuse collector," without requiring bids is "an open invitation to graft and corruption, to kick-backs galore paid for directly by each and every resident of San Rafael."

He also claimed there is no provision in the proposed ordinance "that the rates shall be equal to the rates charged elsewhere by the same collector nor that the rates be comparable to the rates charged by other collectors within the county."

RATE RULES

Under the proposed ordinance the rates to be charged are to be established by contract between the city and the official refuse collector.

The proposed ordinance "is a hodge-podge of foolishness which should have been sent to the present un-official refuse collector on July 18," Mumy said. (The council passed the proposed ordinance to print that night.)

Mumy said the ordinance, in effect, makes the use of sink-mounted disposers illegal by requiring that every resident dispose of food waste only through the official refuse collector.

Section II of the ordinance "clearly states that every resident must patronize the official collector and pay him his rates regardless of usage," he said. Under this provision, residents would be required to subsidize the garbage collector, he claimed.

FAVORS COMPETITION

He also questioned the provision that permits residents to dispose of other than "wet garbage."

"May we not employ college students who have a marginal summer operation to clean our yards and haul away our trimmings?" he asked.

Preventing establishment of a marginal business which might grow to compete in a free market would promote "the most inefficient operations by outlawing competition and protecting the franchise holder," he said.

CITY CONTRACT

The San Rafael City Council entered into an exclusive 10-year garbage collection agreement with Marin Sanitary Service Jan. 20. The proposed ordinance, designed to implement the agreement provides that residents shall have collection by the official refuse collector at least once each week and shall pay for the service at established rates.

Penalty for violation is a fine up to $300 or a jail term up to six months or both.

Mass Held For Bus Crash Dead

LIMBURG, Germany (AP) — Grieving parents from Belgium, whose children were among 33 persons killed in a bus tragedy, attended a simple memorial mass today in the Limburg Cathedral.

Altogether 27 children and 6 adults died in an early morning accident yesterday when the bus crashed through an autobahn bridge guard rail and landed upside down 30 feet below on another road.

Ten children were injured, bound from a summer holiday in Austria and were mostly from police and foreign ministry families in Brussels.

Investigators so far have been unable to determine the cause of the accident.

Woman Fined

Betty Voboril Reed, 44, of 1034 Las Raposas Road, San Rafael, was fined $220 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. She was arrested May 6 on Tamalpais Drive by Corte Madera police.

Sanitary District Budget Is Adopted

SAUSALITO—Marin City sanitary district directors last night adopted a fiscal 1967 budget of $137,110. This compares with last year's $120,100 budget. Tax rate is expected to remain at 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation, according to board president Cyril G. Hansen.

Main increases in the budget represent salaries, welfare and pension costs, an election cost of $1,750 and an increase of $6,000 in the assessment district No. 2.

The board renewed a sewer service charge of $1 per month per residence, same charge levied since formation of the district in 1952.

It also awarded a contract of $4,190 to low bidder James L. Harris of Hayward to make an extension to the control room at the district's main plant. The board adopted a policy agreeing, that if a Tamalpais Valley community services district is formed, a small portion of property in the sanitary district near Shoreline Highway and Tennessee Valley Road should be within the new district.

Poisonous Hoard Of Honey Stolen

MONTARA (UPI) — Somebody in the San Francisco Bay Area has a poisonous hoard of honey.

Mrs. Wanda Lee Walker, 40, Pacifica, told San Mateo County authorities that several honeycombs were ripped from a bees' nest in the walls of her cabin in Montara.

She had sprayed the nest with ortho - chlorine dust, which is deadly to humans as well as bees.

Cash Box Stolen

The dental office of Dr. Jack L. Rosenberg at 600 Mission Avenue, San Rafael was entered via a window over the weekend and a cash box containing 88 cents and five non-negotiable checks was stolen, San Rafael police were told today.

Store Plan Gets General Approval

The Novato Planning Commission last night gave its general approval to plans for a sporting goods store to be built by Stanley Goldsmith at the southwest corner of Diablo Avenue and Novato Boulevard. The commission left final approval of the building location and parking lot plans to its architectural supervisory committee.

The commission wanted the building erected elsewhere on the lot to save trees there. This would alter the parking lot.

The commission also set Aug. 1 for a special meeting to study use permits, provisions for insuring compliance with landscaping requirement, service stations and revisions to the present architectural supervision requirements.

Reverend Returns

Rev. Charles Farrell of Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, who was confined to Ross Hospital since July 9, returned home Friday night.

Tiburon To Double Budget, Tax Rate

Tiburon's city budget and tax rate will more than double under a preliminary fiscal 1967 budget adopted by the city

The new budget of $347,329, up from $148,956, calls for a tax rate of 54 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a rise from 19.5 cents last year.

Mayor John S. Hoffmire called the budget "a happy medium between the level of services and the tax rate." Most of the increase was in expanded street maintenance and police protection costs.

Capital outlay, including street resurfacing programs, rose from $6,455 to $113,355. Municipal salaries, including the cost of the Tiburon sheriff's substation the city "rents" from the county, is $116,085, up from $38,980 last year.

Councilman Thomas E. Drohan asked if the city was going into "deficit financing" since the budget dipped into gas tax reserves. City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose admitted that it was "thin skating" but that more gas tax reserves would accumulate this year. He added that some equipment costs were one-time expenses.

Rose said the new tax rate would still be the lowest in the county. The two-year-old city would expend $57 per capita—second only to Novato's $54 as a county wide expenditure low.

The city council set Aug. 8 for adoption of the final budget.

Of the budget, only $182,500 will be financed from city general revenues, of which property taxes will provide $81,000. The balance of $92,398 will be financed mostly from gas tax revenue and federal grants.

Bill Protects Seal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the House yesterday a bill making it a crime to use the great seal of the United States and the presidential seal except as authorized.

Mental Health Program First Step Approved

Approval of the first steps toward a new community mental health program for Marin, centered round a federal grant, was given today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Although supervisors were divided on what should come first —care for alcoholics or psychiatric services for children — they agreed an advisory committee, to be built into the program, would be a good safeguard.

GRANT APPROVED

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, said the staffing grant had been approved for the fiscal year 1966-67 and a beginning in the program could be made next month.

The program will include:

1. Expansion of emergency services to 24-hour coverage for in and out patients.

2. Two travelling clinics to provide psychiatric services to children near their homes.

3. An alcoholic group to supplement work being done through the Alcoholic Institute in co-operation with Mendocino State Hospital.

Campanella said, "We feel the scope of the proposal is of such magnitude that its success or failure will depend on the active support of other county public and private sectors."

The recommended committee will advise the director of community mental health services and will consist of representatives of county departments, local hospitals and mental health advisory board, among others.

WISER TO WAIT

Campanella said the cost for the first year would be $203,279, of which the county's share would be $19,986.

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker said he thought it wiser to wait until a study, now underway on the county's alcoholism problems, was completed before staffing that part of the program.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said the board should not try and outguess the experts on how to put the recommendations to work.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen commented: "I would be less happy about all this if it did not have this committee which can act as our advisors and lead to a better feedback of information."

Storer Backers Set Cocktail Gathering

A campaign kick-off cocktail party will be held Friday evening in Sausalito for County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station, Democratic candidate for Congress, and his honorary chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Gatov of Kentfield, former treasurer of the United States.

The no-host cocktail party is set for 5 to 8 p.m. Friday at Alta Mira Hotel.

Jobless Novato Father Dies From Car Fumes

Howard Harrison Wright, 40, of Novato, died yesterday at Novato General Hospital after doctors and nurses worked 45 minutes to revive him from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Wright was found asphyxiated in his car at home by his wife's aunt, Mrs. Mildred Dupre of Mill Valley. A vacuum cleaner hose had been inserted into the exhaust pipe and run into the car.

Mrs. Dupre and a friend had gone for a visit to the Wright home at 1079 Eighth Street, when they found him slumped over the front seat of his car. His wife, Shirley, had taken their children to Fairfax for a church picnic.

The coroner's office reported that Wright had been depressed recently.

He was employed until Friday as a carpenter by Morrison-Knudsen Co. at the Puerto Suello tunnel reconstruction project, but was laid off with other carpenters in a reduction of the work force. Earlier yesterday, he signed the "out of work" list at Carpenter's Union Local 35 in San Rafael.

A native of Los Angeles, Wright was reared in Oakland. He lived in Marin for 18 years, the last 10 in Novato.

He was a member of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato.

He is survived by his wife, Shirley; six children, Howard, 16, Candy, 14, Kevin, 9, Mathew, 4, Cindy, 2, all of Novato, and Mrs. Susan Quinn of Hayward; a brother, John W. Wright of Castro Valley; and four sisters, Mrs. Doris Smith of San Leandro, Mrs. Argetta O'Brien of Alameda, Mrs. Aurelia Day of San Francisco and Mrs. Peggy Zimmerman of Japan.

Funeral services will be held 11 a.m. Thursday at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato. Burial will be at 2 p.m. at Golden Gate National Cemetery San Bruno.

San Rafael Chamber Gets Pledge On County Money

Members of San Rafael Chamber of Commerce sighed with relief today when the county board of supervisors told them the chamber will get its $3,600 as promised — provided the City of San Rafael can show it can match the money in some form or other.

Last week, County Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said the chamber had been placed in "a difficult position" because the city had delayed in giving the money which the county had agreed to match.

John M. Douglas, county director of economic development, told the board today that San Rafael officials had said there was $5,000 earmarked in the city budget for contractual services by the chamber. This was not put in writing.

Sig K. Herzog Jr., chamber president, said the group had not understood the county allocation was dependent on matching funds from the city.

"We thought it would be the same as last year," he said, "and in view of this, we have been spending money and this has placed us in a difficult position at the present time."

He added: "the matter of the city's contribution has not come officially before the council but I have been assured by four out of five members that we will get a minimum of $5,000."

Youth's Car Plunges Off Shoreline Highway

George M. Foster, 18, of 253 Las Lomas, Hamilton Air Force Base, was treated at the base hospital for cuts after his car plunged from Shoreline Highway down a 75-foot bank a mile south of Olema at 1:05 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Foster was going north when his car careened off the curving road. He was cited for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Hit Woman Still Fair

An 83-year-old San Rafael woman, injured Wednesday when she was hit by a car, was reported still in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital. Mrs. Dorothy G. Fisher of 1009 B Street suffered multiple fractures, cuts and bruises.

Three Boys Charged With Taking Signs

Three San Francisco boys were held in Marin County Juvenile Hall today on charges of violating curfew and for taking road markers along Highway 101 at Vista Point near the Golden Gate Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the youths, one 15 years old and the others 16, were spotted putting road pylons into their car about 2 a.m. They were flagged down on the Sausalito Lateral and the pylons were recovered.

Tiburon Drainage Proposal Unveiled

A study calling for an $800,000 drainage project to stop wintertime flooding in the Tiburon lowlands was unveiled to the city council last night.

McCreary-Koretsky Engineers of San Francisco, recommended a plan to drain most of the water into Belvedere Cove or Richardson Bay, while dredging the Belvedere Lagoon to allow wintertime boating.

The $8,859 study was jointly financed by Tiburon, the city of Belvedere, which paid $2,000, and the Belvedere Lagoon Property Owners Assn., which paid $1,600.

Mayor John S. Hoffmire directed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose and City Engineer Raymond W. Foreaker to arrange meeting with interested citizens and other districts to study the plan.

The report divides the downtown area from Hilarita Ridge to Point Tiburon into three major drainage basins from the ridgeline to sea level.

Immediate costs were estimated at $453,800 for construction, $75,000 for immediate dredging of the lagoon and $40,000 for right of way costs. Additional costs over the 30-year "economic life" of the project were estimated at $152,000 for maintenance and $77,800 for future dredging of the lagoon and Richardson Bay.

To finance the project, the engineers outlined either taxing through a special assessment district or federally administered 40-year loans through the department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sentence Cut By High Court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The crime of a laborer sentenced to death for the pistol slaying of a deputy sheriff has been reduced by the California Supreme Court from first to second-degree murder.

Justice Raymond A. Peters said yesterday that William J. Ford, 39, was described as so disturbed by family problems and befuddled by liquor that he was "unable to deliberate his acts" at the time of the shooting. The court affirmed his conviction.

Ford was sentenced for the death of San Luis Obispo County Deputy David H. Stahl, who stopped him on a country road near Atascadero June 9, 1961.

Man Injured Fatally In Sequoia Accident

SEQUOIA PARK (UPI) — A Pleasanton man was fatally injured yesterday when he and his 4-year-old son fell 30 feet into a creek bed near Lodgepole in Sequoia National Park.

Pauls G. Shaw, 40, apparently struck his head on a boulder and died later at Exeter Memorial Hospital. The boy was uninjured.

Grand Jurors Tour Ghetto In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) —A grand jury today was taken on a guided bus tour of the riot-scarred East Side where order was being maintained by 2,000 National Guard troops.

Military and civilian authorities predicted an early cutback of troops because of the improved situation.

For some members of the jury, called back into session from summer recess, it was their first trip to the East Side slums, currently Cleveland's No. 1 social problem. Most of the populace in the Hough district, where last week's rioting was concentrated, are Negroes.

The jury was taken to the corner of Hough Avenue and 79th Street where the riot was triggered and down the streets where four Negroes were killed and where fire bombs destroyed or badly damaged scores of buildings.

The jury encountered only curious pedestrians instead of the mob savagery faced by police and firemen during the rioting.

Four Die In Crash

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Four persons were killed and 21 injured when a truck carrying an excursion party through a mountain area of the Azores overturned Sunday, island officials reported today.

Committee To Study Downtown Tiburon

The Tiburon City Council last night turned study of the proposed downtown sketch plan over to a council committee with the intent of making a later public hearing "more a routine one."

Mayor John S. Hoffmire said the committee of Thomas E. Drohan and Branwell D. Fanning would meet with civic groups to hear their suggestions. The move would expedite proceedings, Hoffmire said.

Former councilman Anne L. Ellinwood objected that the citizens were waiting for the council's hearing to appear. Hoffmire said he felt public opinion had been aired during the hearings by the planning commission.

Chairman Stephen H. Nash reported that the planning commission approved the plan by Callister and Payne that called for an economic feasibility study and construction of a "port of call" yacht harbor, elimination of a scenic waterfront road and creation of a parking district. He said public response to public hearings had been poor.

The council voted 3-1, with Hoffmire dissenting, to ask for a continuance of an Aug. 1 Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on abandonment of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad line in Tiburon. Hoffmire objected that the ICC examiner would not delay the hearing so Tiburon could study the matter.

Carl O. Olsen, public relations manager of the railroad, asked the council for a motion of support.

Council William R. Bremer was absent.

The Tiburon City Council also:

1. Instructed City Attorney Robert I. Conn to prepare an ordinance that would amend the duties of the parks and recreation commission.

2. Set an Aug. 8 hearing on an ordinance extending the interim zoning ordinance.

3. Accepted public improvements of the Marinero Residence One, Unit Two, development.

Civic Affairs Council Appoints Committeemen

Marin Council of Civic Affairs last night appointed its representatives to a committee which will discuss formation of "a little Hoover commission" to investigate the high cost of local government.

The idea of a commission, which would start with an in-depth analysis of the county budget, was approved at the last meeting. Other associations are being asked if they would be interested in a study.

Association directors who will serve on the committee are Mrs. Frederick Cowden and Robert Heyer, both of San Anselmo.

The council will also recommend to the board of supervisors that Mrs. Herbert Appenzeller of San Rafael be appointed to the county personnel commission.

Cyrus Extends Term Of President Makarios

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Cyprus House of Representatives extended the term of President Makarios and of the members of the House for another 12 months yesterday.

The five-year term of the president and members of the House expired last August, but similar legislation last July prolonged it for one year.

Puerto Rico Fills Prerequisites For Statehood

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commission on the status of Puerto Rico says the island meets prerequisites for statehood, but has refrained from recommending any course for the Caribbean commonwealth.

The 14-member commission met yesterday for a second reading of the 26-page draft which has not been made public. Experts predict the final report will be basically the same as the draft, which reads in part:

"The commission recognizes the commonwealth arrangement as a permanent, dignified, legal and creative kind of political status, if the people of Puerto Rico so desire.

"The fact, however, that commonwealth status contains the capacity for growth may at the same time make for another political status, either statehood or independence."

Fairfax Council Tackles Budget; Second Review Session Tonight

The Fairfax City Council last night tackled a proposed $535,190 budget for fiscal 1967, up almost 36 per cent from last year.

Councilmen will hold the second of three budget review sessions at 7:30 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club.

City Administrator David J. Sumbardo estimated the proposed budget would carry an eight cent drop in the tax rate to $1.76 per $100 assessed valuation.

There has been a 36.4 per cent increase in the city's assessed valuation since last year because of recent property reassessments, Sumbardo noted.

ADDITIONAL REVENUES

"The reassessment will, of course, provide the city with additional revenues for governmental operations," he said. "The council, however, will be hard pressed to reduce the property tax rate to compensate in part for individual property reassessments."

Councilmen took no action, but their working model of the budget was increased from $533,312 to $535,190 because of a previous raise granted to city employees.

Police Chief James Orr reported that an additional $1,878 would be needed in the police department budget for holiday, vacation and court pay.

When he made up his budget request, Orr said, he alloted $6,057 to the account, but the raises granted in June were not included. Including the raises, his total was boosted to $7,935.

Councilmen covered the police department and city clerk's hearing appeals for extra clerical help in both cases.

CLERICAL HELP

Chief Orr asked for two fulltime typist clerks in the department. There is now one part-time clerk and officers have to spend time doing clerical work "when they sould be on the road," he said.

With additional clerical help, the police department could be open until midnight, Orr added. The office is now often closed after 12:30 p.m. Orr said he has received complaints.

He also insisted that the department's workload has increased since last year. There was a 19 per cent increase in complaints to police in 1965, he said.

Sumbardo recommended that the department be granted one fulltime typist-clerk and two half-time police cadet dispatcher clerks. It was estimated that the hiring of a fulltime clerk and two police cadets would cost an additional $6,100.

IT REQUIRES PEOPLE

City Clerk Frances Lestanguet requested a fulltime clerk as an assistant, claiming her office is also performing more work than it has in the past.

Sumbardo said the city's main office staff consists of two full-time and one part-time employees. "If you want anything done, it requires people to do them," he said.

Arrigoni noted that the city is now having the Bank of America provide payroll services on a trial basis. If his system were adopted permanently, it would save about 27 working days a year for the city staff, he said.

In his budget message, Sumbardo noted that the proposed capital outlay expenditures are $147,203, up $92,555 from the last budget.

Among the projects included in capital outlay are $62,083 for improvement of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and $25,340 for improvement of Center Boulevard.

The budget also includes an additional $1,500 in the street lighting budget to modernize the residential lighting system by converting to mercury lamps.

The fire department budget includes $5,500 to continue replacing inadequate water mains and installing new hydrants.

REWRITING NEEDED

Sumbardo said it is essential that the city's business license ordinance be rewritten to correct inequities.

At the close of the first session last night, Mayor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. announced tonight's session and said a third session will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the women's club.

Still to be considered are the public works, fire department and city administrator's office budgets and park and recreation budget and a report from City Mgr. David J. Sumbardo on the future of the civic center.

Funds For Flood Control Asked

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Governor Edmund G. Brown has asked the federal government to appropriate $13.4 million to begin construction of six new flood control and reclamation projects.

These would be in addition to those recommended by the state in April of this year, which were a record high in amounts and number.

The new projects proposed included the Westlands distribution system, Fresno county, $7.1 million; Warm Springs Dam, Sonoma county, $2.7 million; Mojave River reservior, San Bernardino, $1 million; Pleasant Valley canal, Fresno-Kings, $1.5 million; New Bullards Bar dam, Yuba county, $1 million; and San Francisco to Stockton channel, $100,000.

Brown forwarded his requests to Congressman Michael J. Kirway, who is chairman of the subcommittee on public works of the committee on appropriations.

Kenya Head Ailing

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—President Jomo Kenyatta, 75, is resting at home following a weeklong illness. The president's physician gave no indication of the nature of Kenyatta's illness.

Airdrop Helping Control Blaze

ELSINORE (AP)—An airdrop of 43,000 gallons of fire retardant solution is helping control an 800-acre blaze in the Cleveland National Forest.

"We're holding tight right now at about 800 acres, and things look pretty good," a spokesman said early today.

He said the solution dropped on the blaze is called Firetrol, which helps slow the spread of the flames.

On the fireline, officials said 600 men were working to contain the blaze.

Mill Valley Still Plans Safety Building For '66

Construction of a public safety building for the City of Mill Valley is still scheduled for this fiscal year, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said today.

He explained that there has been a question of reversionary rights concerning the old trestle right-of-way, a portion of which would be used for the building.

"We are reviewing the original site location," said Balmer, "along with a couple of other possible locations. If we can settle the legal question, then we are in position to go ahead immediately with architectural plans. It's definitely possible we will start this fiscal year."

Balmer said $70,000 has been budgeted for the building to be built in two phases, the fire house first and police department second. Total cost is about $120,000.

Rains Pound Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Torrential rains continued to pound South Korea today, bringing 12 more flood deaths and raising the toll since July 15 to 59. The National Flood Committee said 16 other persons were missing and 68 had been injured.

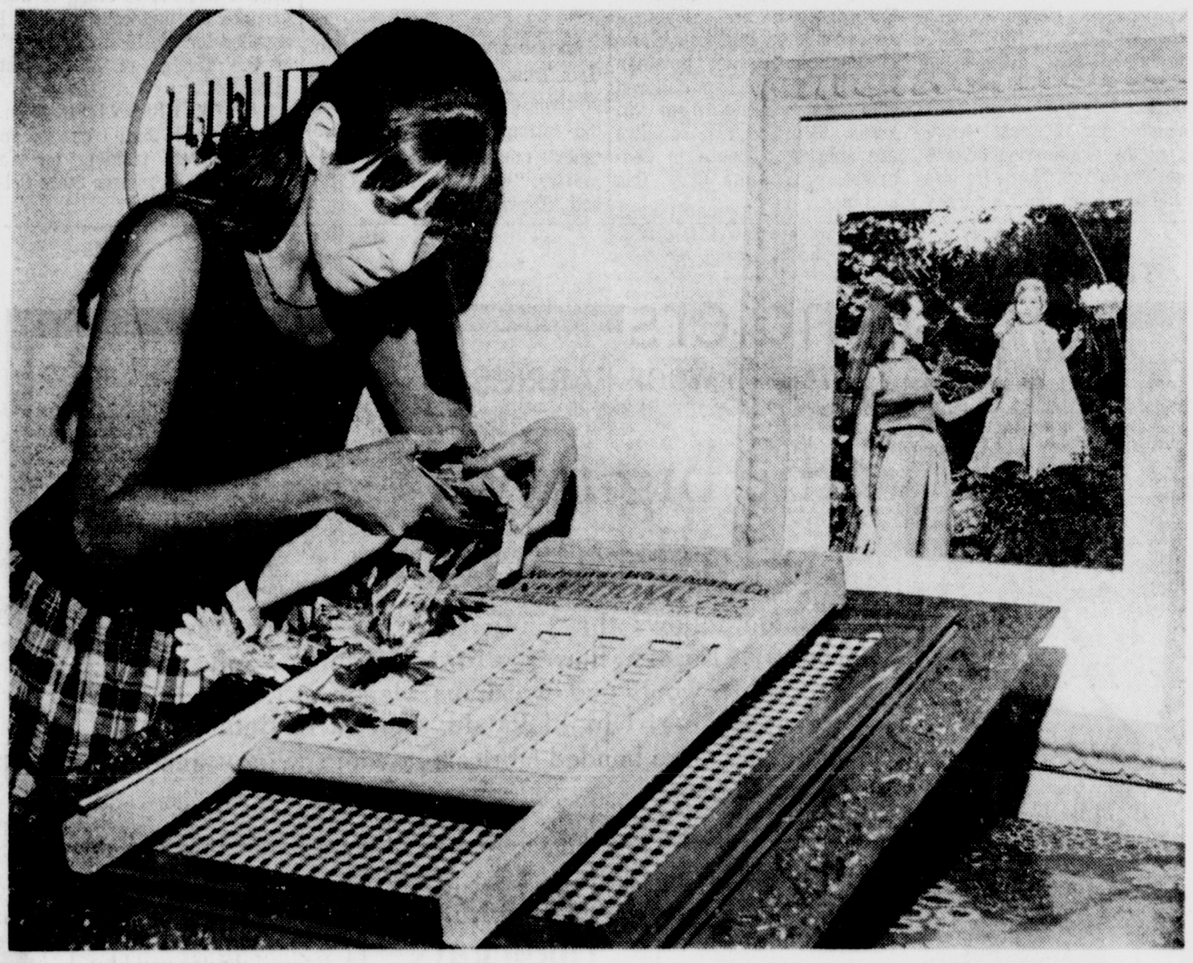
Marin Women



MARILYN ROSENBERG is an object artist. Here she is working on a piece composed of a washboard mounted on black and white checked gingham framed in red. Attached to the washboard are silver foil daisies and tiny American flags. On the wall is a picture of the artist and her seven-year-old daughter Sissy.

READYING HER home for her brother's recent wedding, Marilyn Rosenberg removes some of the children's toys from the drawers that were once the post office boxes of the Mendocino post office that was torn down. Used for a coffee table, it has on top, center, a reproduction of a Victorian wash basin and pitcher filled with flowers and, extreme right, a piece of sculpture by Sausalito artist Enid Foster that is symbolic of the view from the big picture window in the living room.

JUNKYARD-ORIENTAL

Housewife Creates An Attractive Home

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

She is a Sausalito artist, with more than a touch of genuine housewifely thrift, who has furnished her home in what might be called early Salvation Army—junkyard-Oriental, which all adds up to a stunning pop art style.

This is accomplished largely through her talents as an object artist, or one who puts together familiar objects of everyday life and even its debris and cast-offs into collages and assemblages that make artistic sense to many people.

PRIVATELY Marilyn is the wife of Robert Rosenberg, manager of the commodities department of a San Francisco store, and mother of three children, Robin, 8, Sissy, 7, and Kennedy, 5, but she looks more like a Vogue-type model than a housewife.

The Rosenbergs rent their house on Sausalito Boulevard from Roy and Shirley Kindred of Sausalito. The picture window opens onto the kind of spectacularly beautiful view of San Francisco and the East Bay that could seriously interfere with getting anything done for watching its changing moods. It leaves the dominant impression in the living room despite Marilyn's colorful decor.

THE DAY of the interview the flamboyant effect was heightened by the black, white and mustard color decorations she had made for the wedding of her brother, Dr. Stuart Rusnak of Chicago, Ill., who had been so impressed with the place on a visit that he had asked his sister if he could be married there.

The Rosenbergs originally came from Chicago six years age with only a little commercial furniture and some shoji screens that were going to be used as the basis for oriental decor.

Of these screens Marilyn said, "They were terribly expensive, but they were the best investment we ever made because they are so versatile, and the fabric can be changed by thumbtacking it to the wood frames."

The only other Oriental touch is an "Oriental rug," which another Sausalito artist, Marilyn's friend Missy Camp, painted for them on the floor of the bedroom.

The majority of the furnishings were picked up at unbelievably low cost from the Salvation Army, in junk yards and from old houses and buildings being torn down.

THE MOST impressive eye-catcher is a long coffee table that was formerly the boxes at the Mendocino post office, which was torn down. The boxes are actually drawers which are ever so handy for storing things, including the children's toys. All Marilyn had to do was refinish the wood top.

Hanging on the wall is a long, narrow mirror framed in walnut with a shelf on which are small matching blue and white sugar bowls used as planters. It was once the top of a dresser that Marilyn found at the Salvation Army.

WHAT LOOKS like a handsome chest, that is also used as a stool, turned out to be the refinished beautiful wood top of an old sewing machine. Lined up against the wall were several capitals from columns in an old San Francisco mansion, and on the mantel above the fireplace, a piece of the molding from the old Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco. Marilyn has not yet found a use for these—but she will, that's certain.

Nothing goes to waste, not even a music stand, bought when Robin started violin lessons. Three lessons and that was it, she said. She now uses the stand to hold recipes she is referring to while cooking.

HER HOME is not the only beneficiary of Marilyn's talents however. She is always working on something for the many organizations she belongs to.

A member of the Sausalito Women's Club, she has helped with its annual art show. This year she and Sausalito artists Sonja Pimental and Jane Bacher are the committee in charge of doing the decorations for the city of Sausalito's annual art festival set for Labor Day.

She is also busy with art projects in connection with the San Francisco Film Festival in October. Last year she had fun readying a display of her object art for the Christmas show of the San Francisco Museum of Art, and she will participate again this year.

Other organizations to which she devotes her talents are the San Francisco Sponsors, California Designer Craftsmen, which is affiliated with Museum West and the Mother's Milk Bank.

But the real surprise came with the news that Marilyn is studying to become a nurse! "All my life I have wanted to be a

How To Deal With Boys Who Court And Sit Around Reading Magazines

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brushoff. Send your teen-age question to Youth Asked For It, care of Helen Help Us!, the Independent-Journal.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you do with people (especially boys) who come over to see you and then sit down and read magazines or newspapers or books instead of talking to you.—NOT THAT QUIET

DEAR NTQ:

Hide the reading material and break out a few games.

Note to visiting readers: Don't. It's better to flounder on conversation than blunder on etiquette. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I know a lot of girls must have this problem but they don't talk about it much, so don't know how to solve it.

I go with a boy who is just wonderful, but gradually we got carried away. First I allowed an hour of parking and necking, but as we began to care about each other more, well . . .

I'm not in trouble, but I want to stop this heavy make-out. After every date I tell him "No more petting" because I feel so guilty and sneaky and immoral.

Then he says, "Never again" but acts like he thinks I don't love him. And, of course, the next time it happens all over again.

Can a couple ever get back to "just necking" when a girl has allowed a lot more than she should, but not everything?—MIXED UP GAL

DEAR GAL:

Yes . . . but the odds are about par with scaling Mt. Everest in a snowstorm.

You have a lot more than your reputation at stake here, honey. That constant feeling of guilt may build such a wall that it will block real response to your future husband. If you feel "sneaky and immoral" before marriage, you won't miraculously change on your wedding night.

Therefore, to girls who allow petting but "feel just terrible about it, I say: Better break up, unless, 1. You can get back to casual necking, (not the one-hour parking kind), or 2. You can stop feeling guilty — and that's almost impossible for a "good" teen-ager in our still very moral (thank goodness!) society.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 22 and engaged to a guy of 21. He is forever treating me rotten, fights with me every night over silly things, calls me names I couldn't repeat, and makes me cry, while he just sits back and keeps it up, even laughing about it and ridiculing me. Sometimes he hits me.

He has no manners at all. He waits for me to open doors and spends all his money on himself. When he buys food, he gobbles his down and then takes mine, leaving me hungry. How can I change him?—DESPERATE

DEAR DES:

EX-change him! With this kind of preview, only a fool would stick around for the "double" feature.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 21 and capable of taking care of myself, as I have for some time. At present, however, I can't maintain my apartment and am living with my parents and grandmother. My folks treat me like an adult, but my grandmother!

When I come home from work, my room has been straightened and everything put away Heaven knows where. My clothes have been starched just the way I don't want them, and ironed wrong. She always has my dinner waiting and it's always something I can't eat, don't eat, or there isn't enough to eat.

I've asked her repeatedly to let me manage my own life, she agrees and next day she's back at the same old stand; and I spend my evenings hunting for things she's put away and can't remember where, and re-doing my clothes.

I know she means well and I wouldn't hurt her for anything, as I love her and appreciate what she is trying to do, but—GRANDMOTHER, PLEASE, I'D RATHER DO IT MYSELF!

DEAR GPIRDIM:

When in Rome—relax and enjoy it.

You can't change your grandmother, so let her putter until you can get a place of your own. It shouldn't be long.—H.

Janet Lea Wilhelm Will Marry In Fall

The engagement of Janet Lea Wilhelm of Kentfield to James Anthony Richman of San Francisco was announced recently at a dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wilhelm of Kentfield.

Close members of both families attended the party and the announcement was made by the bride-elect's father.

The young couple plan to be married Sept. 3 at St. Sebastian Church and to live in Spokane, Wash., where the bridegroom will teach law at Gonzaga University. He is presently a law clerk to the Hon. Raymond L. Sullivan, Presiding Justice of the First District Court of Appeal in San Francisco. Janet is a nurse at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster G. Wilhelm of Alhambra are the bride-elect's paternal grandparents and the late Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Finnerty of Sonoma are her maternal grandparents. She has three sisters, Julianne, Caroline and Elizabeth, and one brother, James.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Richman of San Francisco, James has three brothers, Gerald, Thomas and Stephen Richman and two sisters, Janet Richman and Mrs. Jerome Frazer of Palo Alto. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas B. Gonzales and the late Mr. and Mrs. Anton Richmond of San Francisco.

The bride-elect was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, attended College of Holy Names in Oakland and graduated from St. Joseph's College of Nursing in San Francisco. She recently returned from New York where she worked for several months at Mt. Sinai Hospital.

The future bridegroom graduated from St. Ignatius High School, University of San Francisco and University of San Francisco Law School. He is a member of McAuliffe Law Honor Society and The Bachelors of San Francisco.

Marinite Wins Honors In Pebble Beach

By MOLLY MARIN

Robert A. Davies of Belvedere walked off with many honors at the Concours d' Elegance in Pebble Beach last weekend. His 1934 Rolls Royce won the Lucius Beebe Memorial Award the first time that the perpetual trophy was given. His vintage car also won first place in the Rolls Royce open pre-war classic division, and was declared the best of the 27 Rolls Royce models on display. And still another honor, the Belvedere entry was selected the "Reserve winner," comparable to second place in the field of 156 entries in the Concours.

Milly and Bob Davies stayed at the Del Monte Lodge during the gala weekend. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies Jr. of Mill Valley were in Carmel for the Concours. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bramante and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gautier of Belvedere were also at Pebble Beach and among the first to congratulate Bob on the honors he received.

LIVING WITH the Robert C. Cooks in Mill Valley for almost a month is Anna McLean of Sussex, England. A student at the University of Wales in Cardiff, Wales, she travels a great deal and applied for placement in an American home under the Home Stay Program of the Experiment in International Living. This is the program which matches homes to students for month-long periods. It is administered in Marin by Mrs. Lawrence Connell Jr. of Tiburon. Another student living in Marin under the program is a young French boy, Jean Francois Langumier, who is staying with the John W. Scotts of Ross. He will return to school in Paris.

THE WEEKEND RETREAT in Belvedere of the Herbert Gray Hills family of Piedmont was the setting for a family reunion last weekend. Mrs. Hills' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Jackson of Beverley Hills were in town with Nancy Jackson's daughter, Maria Louisa de Herrera. Mrs. Marie Veitch of Piedmont, mother of the sisters, was in Belvedere for the get-together. The Jacksons and Maria Louisa had just returned from a visit with Nancy's other sister, Mrs. Pierce Milton in Montana.

VISITING THE Henry Heilbrons in Mill Valley are their son, Henry Heilbron Jr., and his bride, who were married last December. Henry has been attending the J. S. Naval Officers Candidates Schools in Newport, R.I., for the past five months. He will be at Port Hueneme for 10 weeks' training in the engineering department of the U.S. Navy. He was graduated from the University of California last February with a degree in engineering.

IT'S A MONTH in Seabright for the Robert Ingrams of Belvedere who are enjoying a visit with Mary Ingram's brother, Melville Bryant Bowman Jr., his wife and four children who are visiting from St. Louis, Mo. The two families are sharing a house in Seabright, near Santa Cruz, this summer.

Games Of Fantasy Way To Develop Emotional Depths

By PATRICIA McBROOM
Science Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Games of fantasy offer a means, perhaps the only one, by which little children communicate with each other and develop emotional depth, a Los Angeles psychoanalyst said recently.

The chance is fleeting. If missed in childhood, the adult may never be able to recapture it, believes Dr. Albert Schrut of the University of Southern California School of Medicine.

Healthy adults can simply state their feelings to one another, he noted, but a child is largely unaware of the emotions that others possess and only partially aware of his own.

By acting out a fantasy — pretending pain, terror, aggression, passivity — the child gives concrete expression to his feelings, and by responding to the pretense of playmates, he builds a bridge to the outside world. The feelings of others "become his to muse, to built and unbuild, to reproduce in part or in whole, to assimilate or reject, to examine and re-examine."

DR. SCHRUT said that when the child cannot take leave of reality in these early years from two to six, his emotional and social development is often stunted. He cited a study of three-year-old children in a Boston slum as a case in point.

Exposed to violence, poverty and abandonment, the children were too taken up with reality to engage in fantasy play, or in fact, any play. They had to be constantly on the alert against the threats of everyday life. During rare periods when they handled toys, their actions were aimless and joyless.

Emotionally, the children were shallow, lacking personal warmth and imagination. A major breakthrough in reaching the children came in teaching them how to play, according to Dr. Charles Malone of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, Philadelphia, who conducted the study.

ESSENTIALLY, this is the major thrust of the government's Project Head Start program. Rather than simply advancing formal education to preschool years, Head Start teaches children how to play.

BUT KNOWING how to fantasize is not enough. The child needs company in his pretense, said Dr. Schrut, who received a Southern California Psychoanalytic Society and Institute award for his paper, "The Importance of Play in Children."

HARPSICHORD

Inverness Recital By Criminologist

ROBERT LEA
Inverness festival tenor

Nancy L. Bennet graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1956 with a B.A. in correctional criminology and a minor in music. After three years as group supervisor at San Mateo County Juvenile Hall she got a music teaching credential.

A pupil for two years with Istvan Nadas, she lives in San Francisco. Miss Bennet teaches group piano class at Drake High School's adult night school.

She will perform Saturday with Fae McNally in a program of music for two harpsichordists and Sunday in the Bach program.

Directing the Bach program will be Darrell Parker, flutist and tenor soloist in the festival. He is director of choral music at Drake High School.

Soloists in Haydn's "The Creation" Saturday evening will be Robert Lea, tenor, Thelma Dickson, soprano, and Kent Weaver, tenor.

Miss Dickson was a solo performer in the Schumann recital on the firehouse lawn in Inverness last year, forerunner of this year's festival.

Afternoon performances, at 3 Saturday and 2 Sunday, will be presented in the amphitheater near St. Columba's Church. Evening performances, at 8 Saturday and 8:30 Sunday, will be inside the church.

Quake Fault To Be Studied By Planners

The Marin County Planning Commission last night agreed to put some parts of the west Marin master plan back under a microscope to see what changes, if any, are needed to avoid the dangers of letting too many people live on top of the San Andreas fault.

Commissioners said they did not want the whole plan held up, but admitted that fears of an earthquake in West Marin are legitimate.

DOOR OPEN

They agreed to press the board of supervisors to give approval to the plan's general concepts when the board meets in special session tomorrow—but they left the door open for further study of the earthquake problem.

It will be at tomorrow's meeting that county administrator Alan Bruce will recommend the return of the master plan to the planning commission to reconsider such hazards.

In a letter to the board Friday, Bruce said that if the plan was approved it would be like "playing dice with god."

But the commission beat Bruce to the draw last night by suggesting planning director Paul C. Zucker make sketch plans of the land areas likely to be effected by the fault.

Zucker said he would, on paper, shift around some of the areas zoned for high densities of population and come back to the commission for action.

He said that as it stood, the plan was "misleading." It had appeared to ignore the San Andreas fault and this might lead to more problems in the future.

IMPLIED CRITICISM

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said he thought the letter Bruce sent to the supervisors was an implied criticism of the commission. He noted that studies had been made in the past for both the commission and the supervisors. Nothing came of them.

Two ways he thought the problem could be overcome were through conventional zoning ordinances to reduce density and by tightening building code regulations. He suggested the plan should be approved with the warning that the fault existed and that studies were being made.

Commissioner William F. Upton agreed there should be no undue delay in approving the master plan. But commissioners agreed with chairman Margaret Azevedo when she proposed the sketch study.

Zucker added: "the question is whether you consider keeping people away from the fault is a too high a price to pay . . . or whether it makes sense."

NEW YORK (UPI) —The highest temperature reported yesterday to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Hawaii and Alaska, was 109 degrees at Blythe, Calif. The lowest reported this morning was 37 at Kalispell, Mont.

Novato Club To Produce Fall Play

"Life's a Ball" has been selected for the fall production of the Novato Community Club, according to director Paul Terry.

The musical melodrama was written by Patricia Conway with Kenneth and Constance Craig. It will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 4, 5, 11 and 12.

Michael Jones will be producer and Jean Teague musical director. Wanda Blackwell will do choreography, Lorayne Crozier will be accompanist, Albert Richter, the stage manager, and Edward Hamann will construct the sets. Glen Barton is in charge of the stage lighting.

Casting for the musical will be done next month with rehearsals to start in September, Terry announced.

Marin Students Attend Pacific Music Camp

Ray Pancost of Woodacre and Lori Adams of Fairfax attended on scholarships from the camp. They and Laurie Alberton of Larkspur spent five weeks at the camp, participating in daily instruction in classical music and in weekly concerts.

Attending for the past two weeks were Mark Jordan, David James and Jan Gander of San Rafael, and Marcia Goodrich, formerly of San Rafael. James H. Jenkins, of San Rafael, a music teacher at Herbert Hoover Junior High School in San Francisco served as a counselor at the camp.

PLAYS RICHARD — Richard Matthews of Oakland appears as the Bishop of Ely, one of two roles he will play in "Richard III," third production of the 1966 Marin Shakespeare Festival. It will open at 8:30 tomorrow at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

'Simple Simon' Cast Has 52 Children

Curtain Thursday and Friday will be at 2 p. m., and Saturday at 8 p. m.

Director of the fifth production of the group is Mrs. Eleanor Gaustad of San Rafael. Original music was composed by Mrs. Ferney McKibben of Lucas Valley. Mrs. Robert Densmore of Lucas Valley and Mrs. Oscar Chambers of Terra Linda designed the costumes. Mrs. Paul McMullen of San Rafael created the props.

Appearing in principal roles will be Jo Katzman, Bruce Chambers, Margaret Baznik, Debra Miskimen, Steve Powers, John Miskimen Jr., Andy Valvur and Lisa Murray.

Costumed cast members were driven Saturday through Terra Linda, Marinwood, Lucas Valley and Glenwood to invite residents to attend the comedy.

Art Show Set On Houseboat

There will be an art show aboard the houseboat, Gypsy Queen, at Gate VI near Sausalito from noon to 9 p.m. Wednesday to collect money to save the sinking boat.

The show is by Mim, a Sausalito artist.

David Ames, a writer who lives aboard the 36-foot former landing ship transport, said the ship is being held above the water by pumping. If enough money is collected, he said, the Gypsy Queen will be taken into the ways in Sausalito for repairs.

Light Fixtures Gone

Donald E. Eberhardt of Novato told San Rafael police yesterday that some time over the weekend a $115 chandelier and a $75 outdoor hanging lamp were stolen from a house under construction at 22 Sandalwood Court, San Rafael.

Wallet, $350 Lost

J. Mansfield Lewis of 1315 Nye Street, San Rafael, told police he lost his Mexican tooled wallet somewhere in San Rafael yesterday. He said it contained $350 in cash, credit cards and other personal papers.

Land Division Case Receives Planners Help

Marin County planning commissioners pulled all the stops out last night to save taxpayer William Beatty from paying $700 for a fireplug.

They even suggested a spice of illegality but were not totally successful.

Beatty, however, was sent home with the promise that planning director Paul C. Zucker would do all he could to correct a land division condition "which I never liked imposing anyway."

Beatty had been granted a land division at School Road, Novato, on condition he would install a fire hydrant.

He objected to paying the total price, stating he would hand over an amount equal to the benefit he would gain from it.

"I only want to divide the land and sell it. I won't build," he said. "Yet I am to pay for 2,000 feet of protection."

Zucker said the condition was imposed on land division proposals at the request of fire districts.

"I consider the fire plug requirement is a mistake," Zucker said. "It is unreasonable to ask an applicant to pay all the cost. I think fire districts should pay out of their own pockets."

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty suggested a quarter of the cost be paid by Beatty into the fire district fund "to see what happened."

This idea seemed a little outlandish to Commissioner Michael Praszker, who asked for legal advice.

Richard V. Gondini, deputy county counsel, said it would not be legal to impose paying a quarter of the cost as a condition for granting the land division. Commissioners, therefore, allowed the condition to stand. Zucker promised that even if the cost payment couldn't be worked out with the fire district, he would go ahead and allow the division at staff level anyway.

Minuteman 2 Fired In Test

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A powerful Minuteman 2 intercontinental ballistic missile roared from its modernized underground silo today and thundered a 5,000-mile path to a target in the Pacific Ocean.

The firing was one of a series of tests by the Air Force to verify modernization procedures being taken on operational Minuteman 1 silos and control centers across the country to accommodate the newer and more effective Minuteman 2.

In Critical Condition

A San Rafael woman found shot through the temple July 17 was reported still in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital. Mrs. Cornelia Ann Thierfeldt, 45, of 705 Kerner Boulevard, was found slumped on the sofa in the living room by her husband, Robert, with a .22 caliber rifle lying by her side.

Soprano Marsh Set For Telephone Hour

Marin followers of the sensational career of Mill Valley dramatic soprano Jane Marsh will have their first opportunity in October to hear her sing since her triumph in the Soviet Union.

She was the winner of top vocal honors in the recent international Tschaikovsky competitions in Moscow.

Jane, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Earle Marsh of Mill Valley, will sing on the Bell Telephone Hour on NBC Television on Sunday, Oct. 23, at 6:30 p.m. It will be seen locally on KRON-TV, Channel 4.

This will be part of a documentary on events this summer at the Berkshire Music Festival on the Tanglewood Estate in Lenox, Mass. She made her first appearance there yesterday with the Boston Symphony under Eric Leinsdorf.

The 24-year-old singer has also signed an exclusive recording contract with RCA Victor records.

Jane's mother said her plans include an engagement to sing in the Hollywood Bowl this summer, a television appearance on the American Broadcasting Co's Hollywood Palace television show and a winter tour of Russia. No definite date has been set for these.

Church Site Approved By Commission

Permission for land to be used for a new Roman Catholic Church in Olema was granted yesterday by Marin County Plannig Commission.

Conditional approval of the plans was also given for the church, proposed on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard north of Bear Creek Road.

Designed to seat 300 people, the church will have a steeple 74 feet high.

The commission postponed until Aug. 8 its consideration of plans for a 100-unit motel across from the County Civic Center. Also continued to the same date was consideration of new development plans for a 10-acre area near Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Turned down plans by Bitz Brothers for an 11-unit apartment project at Sunset and Woodside avenues in Tamalpais Valley.
2. Approved a revised site plan submitted by Robert H. Greene for a warehouse at Dodie Street in San Rafael.
3. Denied 4-2 the request of John P. and Fern Eichon to rezone a 24,000 square foot site from business and professional to commercial on the east side of Reed Boulevard, south of Knoll Road in Alto.
4. Denied an appeal on a variance by Thaddeus W. Wyatt for an additional bedroom at 156 Ridgewood Road, Kentfield.
5. Approved plans for an office building on the south side of Tiburon Boulevard in Tiburon, submitted by Fox and Carskadon.
6. Granted land division appeals to Wallace B. Wold at 880 Escondido, Loma Verde; to Robert Watson at 10 Wild Horse Valley Drive, Novato; and to G. Von Kaesborg at Paradise Drive and Tredogo Road, Tiburon.
7. Adjourned to Aug. 8.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Too Much Duplication In Local Government

A non-profit, non-political research organization out of New York has come up with a series of recommendations to modernize local government and cut down on duplication and inefficiency.

"The number of local governments in the United States should be reduced by at least 80 per cent," says the Research and Policy Committee of the Committee for Economic Development (CED).

Many of the recommendations strike close to home in Marin, where citizens and public officials have long recognized the duplication of effort caused by the myriad of small districts.

"Small, overlapping tax assessment and collection districts, with their amateur elective assessors and collectors, must give way to professionally competent personnel under incorruptible supervision," says the committee statement.

Marin County is comparatively fortunate in this respect in having a competent county assessor who has been completely free from any taint of corruption in a state that was riddled by scandals.

The CED's Research and Policy Committee came up with several sweeping reform proposals including these:

Reduce the 80,000 local governments to no more than 16,000.

Curtail the overlapping layers of local government.

Confine popular election to members of the policy-making bodies of government, severely reducing the 500,000 locally elected paid or unpaid officials.

Put a single chief executive (either elective or appointive) in charge of all administrative agencies and halt the election of department heads.

Replace the "partisan 'spoils' system" found in most counties and many other local units with personnel practices based on merit and professional competence.

Increase reliance on modernized county governments to solve the problems of rural, urban and most metropolitan communities.

Revamp the state constitutions to provide for boundary revisions, extensions of legal authority, and elimination of needless government units.

Revise the terms and conditions of federal and state grants-in-aid to encourage modernization of local governments.

"Strong local governments could share their established technical services, on a cost basis, with smaller units," the report notes. "County governments could gradually assume many area-wide functions which existing units cannot perform because of their lack of resources."

Marin has taken steps in that direction. Cities have turned over to the county the duty of assessing and collecting taxes. The need for more coordination in countywide police and fire protection has been voiced.

The CED report says that independent rural school districts should be consolidated until every unified school system in the country has at least 1,500 students.

California has been attempting to do just that.

Another recommendation: "In cases where an entire metropolitan area cannot feasibly be included within a single county, use should be made of multicounty federations to plan and enforce solutions of area-wide problems."

This is exactly what the Association of Bay Area Governments (with Marin playing a major role) is attempting to do.

Marin has long recognized the need for most of the major points stressed in the CED report. Full implementation, however, will take time.

Twenty Feet Of Dirt

According to an industrial research firm, if all the dust, smoke and other kinds of air pollution over America's major cities were to be suddenly precipitated, a blanket of dirt 20 feet deep would cover everything.

It is a frightening thought to consider that millions of Americans are constantly living in and breathing such foul air. It can get a bit thick in Marin on warm days when there is no breeze stirring, or when the wind is from the east.

Mail Box In Front Of House Likened To Old Hitching Post

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It doesn't seem to be the big things that government does, like spending billions of dollars in poverty programs and other vote-getting gimmicks, that arouse the ire of the citizenry. Rather, it's the small annoyances in the form of governmental rules and regulations that bring up the blood pressure.

Latest of these small annoyances is the requirement of the post office department that in new subdivisions, homeowners must put up a rural route post-office box at the curb line, regardless of sidewalk area, lot sizes, or population density.

Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, who for many years has been known for his antipathy to foolish governmental regulations, suggests the post office department "rejoin the 20th Century." Further, he indicates the mail boxes are an insult to beautification programs, now under way in many cities and nationally.

"NO MATTER HOW you describe it," says Congressman Johnson, "there is no way that a mail box, mounted on top of a post can be beautified. Nor do I think that a mail box in front of a house is any more modern than a hitching post."

The post office requirements, he declared, are incompatible with the subdivision requirements of virtually all the cities in the Second Congressional District, which Johnson represents, and probably violate requirements in many more areas throughout the nation.

Aside from the aesthetic insult to the new home-owners in a brand new subdivision, the post-office requirement adds an unnecessary cost to the taxpayer, as well as a lot of time and trouble expended in complying with the regulation.

ALL OF WHICH raises the hackles of the citizen and taxpayer, and causes resentment on the part of the people who pay the bills and help make up the annual post-office deficits. For it is no small accomplishment for a new home owner to waste a Saturday morning borrowing a post-hole digger, going to the lumberyard and buying a post, then to the hardware store to buy a mail box which was designed to be used in the country where houses might be as much as a mile away.

And then, after getting all of the equipment and supplies together, there is the problem of performing the actual work, which involves digging the post-hole, setting the post, fitting a board to hold the box and then screwing on the box.

This poses such a terrible problem to the taxpayer who is not handy with tools that the inclination comes in the middle of the job to say the heck with the whole business and light out for the golf course.

BUT THIS CREATES another problem. No box, no mail, says the post-office, and no one wants to miss all that junk mail the post-office delivers at reduced rates.

So until the post office department discovers that 1966 is well into the Twentieth Century, there seems to be no solution to this all important problem.

Of course, when government realizes it is a problem, then will come the time for appropriations to add classes to the school program for courses in putting up mail boxes!

Another Side To Fourth Street

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The quarter page photo on page one of the July 18, 1966 issue of the Independent-Journal amused me. It obviously was taken for the proponents of parallel parking. I wonder how early and how long your photographer waited to get the desired shot.

I was in San Rafael that morning. When I crossed Fourth Street on foot at B Street about 10 a.m., I had to weave my way through eastbound auto traffic which was stopped for a distance of two full blocks, blocking B Street and the Fourth Street pedestrian walks while a male driver was parallel parking in front of Hoy's TV store.

The Wage Cycle And The Bakers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Perhaps I can help explain the recent increase in bread prices. While higher wheat prices are part of the reason, there are numerous other factors.

Almost daily there are price increases in at least some of the nearly 100 or more ingredients in the baking industry, such as shortening, salt, pan release, preservatives, dough improver, milk, and eggs.

Next, consider equipment costs, such as bread trays, pans, tray liners, wrapping machine parts, printed wrapping paper, office materials, utilities, rent, and car and truck maintenance, to mention a few.

Of course, we can't forget salaries and fringe benefits, such as those of office workers, accountants, janitors, mechanics, bakers, and drivers. Their yearly salaries may range from $6,000 to $10,000 each, excluding top executives and employer - contributed fringe benefits to such funds as medical, dental, retirement, social security, and unemployment . . .

A current government survey reveals that the average wholesale bakery, as with many wholesale food brokers, is earning two per cent yearly profit, a very poor investment return. One of the largest commercial bakeries closed this July, putting some 500 employees out of work in the Bay Area alone.

Mrs. Average Housewife and her husband receive yearly increases in wages to compensate for higher prices in items of necessity, known as cost-of-living expenses. But many people squander this money upon gambling, expensive cars, high-rent houses, liquor, and tobacco. A little thrift in any one of these luxury items might compensate for the few pennies increase in food items which probably doesn't amount to more than a couple of hundred dollars per year for most families.

Now Mr. Average Husband, who has already spent his last pay raise on a color TV set, must ask his employer for more money. His employer passes this expense on to his customers, many of whom are employed in the baking industry, and they request another salary increase.

Thus continues the vicious wage-price spiral of our economy . .

Cheers For Nurses, Bold But Right

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to express my complete moral support for the action taken by the nurses in the Bay Area in demanding higher salaries. Their step is bold, but right. May they have the courage to follow their just conviction and not be intimidated by hospital administrators.

On The Utility Of Advertising

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a recent letter to the editor, C. Studley criticized the promotional material included with PG&E and other utility bills as useless expense borne by the users, which he suggests should be prohibited by the Public Utilities Commission.

Following full public hearings, the commission has affirmed the benefits of utility promotional advertising to both utility customers and stockholders. As in other businesses, selective sales promotion and advertising increase sales, improve efficiencies, and lower the cost to the user because of the economies of larger sales volume. Both service and product industries apply the "cheaper by the dozen" principle successfully.

Utilities have an exemplary record in holding down their prices, particularly during the recent inflationary period. For instance, there have been five reductions in PG&E gas and electric rates in the last three years, whereas the cost of most everything else has gone up during this period.

Business is dynamic by nature — and promotes more business to prosper and survive. Otherwise, it may disappear from the scene. A progressive company also attracts investment at favorable terms thus further reducing costs and, in the case of utilities, customer rates.

The American economy is based on mass production which lowers costs for mass distribution. The latter is made possible through mass promotion and selling, which is advertising.

Just go in and sit down!" When Mr. Goodman was himself an impoverished student, he bicycled up to Columbia and brazenly took a seat in Professor Dick McKeon's philosophy class. McKeon not only took it for granted he was a registered student, but soon was publishing pieces by him in the Journal of Philosophy. Good man, McKeon!

Goodman quotes the popular professor, Morris Cohen, who usually lectured to classes swollen to three times the number officially paid up and registered, "What do the authorities expect me to do about it? I'm not a constable!"

U.S. Policy Toward Red China Undergoing Serious New Study

By BARRY SCHWEID
(James Marlow is ill.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's speech last week to an American Alumni Council meeting and his remarks at a news conference indicate U.S. policy toward Communist China is undergoing serious re-examination.

While it is a little early in the game to arrive at hard conclusions, the administration evidently is moving in these directions:

1. It is making a concerted effort to woo China away from its traditional isolation policy toward the United States.

2. It is affirming at the same time that the United States has a power role to play in Asia, a role that extends beyond Viet Nam.

3. It is ready to take preliminary steps toward reconciliation with China.

4. It intends to move slowly and is not about to make an abrupt and substantial change in policy immediately.

5. IT IS awaiting some sign from Peking that a more moderate stance on Washington's part will lead to a response in kind.

Though these developments coincide with the bombing of oil depots in North Viet Nam, the belief here is that they suggest more than just another carrot - and - stick approach to the war.

In the past, the administration has followed tough military decisions with conciliatory gestures. For instance: Johnson's offer last April to participate in "unconditional discussions" to settle the war followed soon after the bombing of military bases in the North.

There has been no public indication from China to encourage a change in U.S. policy, nor have third-party contacts with the Chinese indicated interest in accommodation.

AND YET THE administration is proceeding, possibly on the theory that while it may not be able to convince current Chinese leaders of Washington's good intentions the message may seep in to younger, second-level Chinese who some day will take control.

For instance: "We should do everything we can to increase our exchanges, to understand other people better, to have our scientists and our businessmen and our authors and our newspaper people exchange visits and exchange viewpoints."

THE EXPRESSION of a greater power role for the United States in Asia was voiced by the President in his July 12 telephoned speech to the alumni council meeting at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The first essential for establishing a foundation for peace in Asia, he said, "is the determination of the United States to meet our obligations in Asia as a Pacific power."

Arguments that the United States has no business in Asia, he said, "have been tested and found wanting. We are bounded not by one but by two oceans — and whether by aircraft or ship, satellite or missile, the Pacific is as crossable as the Atlantic."

The willingness to take steps toward reconciliation are evident in the offer for exchange visits by scientists, businessmen, authors and newspapermen.

And the decision to move slowly is evident in his news conference statement that until the Chinese are willing to abide by the principles of the U.N. Charter and "give up their thoughts of aggression and force" he is ruling out favoring China's admission to the United Nations or a relaxation of trade embargoes.

'Demonstration City' Bill Gains Priority

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's "demonstration cities" program could become the legislative sleeper of this session of Congress.

As approved by the House Banking and Currency Committee, the $2.3 billion urban development measure contains a little-noticed mandate designating the rebuilding of slums and blighted areas in the major cities as the government's highest priority domestic program.

Only support of the Viet Nam War will carry a higher administration priority.

THE BILL also authorizes Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert Weaver to appoint federal "expediters" for all major cities to direct and coordinate this massive rebuilding program.

Significance of these and other little - publicized provisions were highlighted during a White House strategy meeting at which the President chided his legislative leaders on the progress of the measure.

"Where is my legislative sleeper — the demonstration cities program?" he asked. "I need that mandate from Congress to tackle the biggest domestic problem this nation has faced since the depression."

When Speaker John McCormack, Mass., pointed out that the bill had been approved by the House Banking Committee and would be taken up on the House floor in August, the President replied:

"WE DON'T have a day to lose. That program has the administration's highest priority. The only way we are going to put an end to those riots and demonstrations is to get rid of the slums. Once you give me the authority, I will see that federal expediters are appointed in all the major cities to push this rebuilding."

The President told his legislative leaders, "The program will become one of the largest and most important domestic programs ever undertaken by the federal government," despite the administration's modest request for $2.3 billion to launch it.

"My advisers say that upward of $100 billion will eventually be needed to clear our cities of slums and blighted areas," declared the President. "This program is only a start. But we must begin someplace and it must be this year."

He reported that already 60 cities have either submitted proposals for or expressed an interest in obtaining funds under the demonstration cities program.

In the individual cases of New York, Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles, he said, each city's plan would require almost as much federal aid to finance as the total initial $2.3 billion administration request.

As reported by the House Banking Committee, the administration's proposal authorizes the secretary of housing and urban development to make grants and provide technical assistance to "city demonstration programs."

Section IV of the measure defines these as "programs to rebuild and restore entire sections and neighborhoods of slums and blighted areas through coordinated use of all available federal aids and local private government resources."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Novato Scavenger Finds Housing Hard To Come By In North Marin

I am a little 5-months-old dog with long chocolate brown hair. Until a couple of weeks ago, I thought that I had everything made for the rest of my life.

My earliest recollections as a pup were these children to play with all day long. We would romp on the bed or play in the house and yard. There was the boss man of the house who seemed to like me. At least he bought me a new chain for my neck and boy was I proud of that.

He would take me walking with him. If I got too far ahead or behind, the chain would choke me. I soon learned that he wanted me to walk right beside him. Because I loved him and the children so much, I decided right then and there to do that for him. He also wanted me to sit sometimes, and so I did that for him too.

I was the happiest little dog anywhere. I loved my people so much and knew they loved me too. At least I knew the way the chuldren hugged me that they loved me too. The boss man also seemed to love me.

THE FIRST THING that I knew that something was wrong was one day when the boss man said that that dog had to go. The boss man grew aloof from me and would not soften, even when I licked his face. The children seemed to grow more fond of me and held me longer and closer.

Then one evening, they toook me in the car someplace I had never seen before. The boss man pinned a paper on my collar and put me outside the car. Then it sped off faster than I could catch it. I heard the children crying inside of it.

So I sat down and waited for them to come back. They didn't come before it got dark, but I knew that they would the next day. So when it got cold that night, I crawled under a car on the street so I would stay warm.

Although I am five months old, I was cold, hungry and had no human beings to love. I cried a little that night.

THE NEXT DAY the street was filled wiith children. So I played with them all day, happy to have someone to play with while I waited for my human family to come and get me. When it got to be supper time, the children all went to their houses and left me alone. Boy was I hungry by now.

After a while a lady came out of her house and up to me. I wiggled all over and turned over on my back to show her that I was friendly. She took the paper from my collar on my neck and read out loud: "Please give me a home. I have been defleaed." Then she left me.

Day after day I waited for my family. Each night I cried a little at being alone, but I found that it was warmer under the cars, even though the oil dropped on me. Occasionally I found something to eat when someone dropped some garbage from a can.

I guess a couple of weeks went by and I waited faithfully for my human family to come and get me. I was getting so weak from hunger that I found it harder to get up all my energy to play with the children. I was getting skinny from lack of food.

JUST BEFORE sundown one day I was looking for some food in a garbage can at an apartment house. I didn't find much, so I lay down on the concrete to get the last warmth from it before the night set in. I saw this man from the apartment across the street come toward me. By now I had lost hope of finding my family and was too weak to care much. So I just lay there, wagging my tail to show him that I was a friendly dog.

He came over and picked me up. The minute his strong hand touched me, I knew that he was kind and gentle. He took me across the street to his porch where he gave me a bowl of dog food and some water. Here was someone who cared, so I licked him and his wife all over just to show them how grateful I was.

HERE WAS REAL dog food and I gulped it down. Then they brought me more and more. I was so famished that I didn't think I would ever get full. I ate five bowls of food and they still brought more. I couldn't eat it all.

That night they fixed me a bed of a blanket in a box on their porch, as they had a dog of their own in their house. I played with her, but she seemed to resent my being there and didn't want to play very much.

The next day they fed me some more, some real meat, too. I played a little with their dog, but she did not like me. Later the man gave me a bath to get all the oil out of my hair. Then he turned over the pad on their lawn chair and I had a real bed to play in.

IT FELT SO good that I rolled on it, squealing in delight at the feel of a bed again. I fell off a couple of times, but they just laughed at me as I jumped back on it.

Then the lady took me in a car. It seemed good to be in a car again and I sat back and enjoyed it. She took me to another lady who gathered me in her arms as soon as she saw me.

The two of them took me to another house where the man there told the woman that he didn't want another dog. I could tell by the smells of the house that they had had a dog and a cat there. When the lady handed me to the man, I knew I had better put on a good act, so I licked him all over the face and neck.

Well, he liked me, so now I have a new home with humans that love me. There is the man and woman who both love me, and best of all, there is a big boy to play with, too. I heard them say that they would keep me. They have even given me an old shoe to chew up, so I know that I have another human family to love.

Los Angeles Police Chief Knew About Crime, Not About Sociology

Bill Parker, the fighting police chief who in 15 years transformed a Los Angeles constabulary of somewhat doubtful reputation into what is widely reputed to be the most honest and efficient police body in the country, died last week — with his boots still on.

Few public servants have obeyed so scrupulously Kipling's injunction to "fill the unforgiving minute with 60 seconds' worth of distance run."

And, as is still happily traditional with us, both lifelong friends and political foes paused to pay tribute to a gallant figure of unquestionable integrity. This was the eulogy of Thomas Kilgore, Western representative for Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference:

"His death will be a loss in the sense he put together a strong, disciplined police force. But I think his death will be a relief to the minority community, who believe he woefully misunderstood the social revolution taking place."

WHATEVER YOU may think of the Christian charity in Kilgore's encomium, with its unmistakable innuendo that the people of Watts are joyfully celebrating the chief's death, at least there is no hypocrisy in it.

If it does not mirror the genuine sentiment of that "minority community" Kilgore pretends to speak for, it is clearly the sentiment of Kilgore himself.

And it is natural that this should be so. For Parker represented the America that was, and Kilgore is the wave of the future, whose signs are ominously recorded in the day's dispatches from Chicago, San Francisco, St. Louis, Cleveland, South Bend, Jacksonville and Brooklyn — the wave of a mob which decides what laws to obey.

In fairness, I must note that various government bureaucrats — especially some of Sargent Shriver's men — have actually been telling the "underprivileged" they were in favor of demonstrations.

AND HOW CAN the demonstrators, then, be anything but puzzled when they find police and national guardsmen opposing them? To the hurlers of Molotov cocktails, the forces of law and order must seem to be uniformed insurrectionists defying the government.

In discussing this situation at various times with Chief Parker, I found it beyond his comprehension. Truly, he "woefully misunderstood the social revolution taking place." He said once, ruefully, "The trouble with me is that I'm just a cop, not a sociologist."

Against him was his background. He had been brought up in an era when the government didn't owe you anything and you had to fend for yourself. At high school, he suffered the indignities of stoop labor, working at nights as a hotel bellhop, yet managing to rank at the head of his class.

He wanted to be a lawyer but, in those dark days, there was no federal bureau to turn to. So he joined the L.A. police force, walking a cop's beat by day and studying law at night. And, eventually, he passed the bar exam.

BUT MEANWHILE he had been smitten with law enforcement, and had worked his way up through the ranks. And when he was finally made chief of police, he was determined to be the best one L.A. had ever had.

He fought hard for his men and got them raises. But when he caught one taking graft, he threw the book at him mercilessly, without judiciously weighing such contributing factors as that the offender might have had a deprived childhood.

For the professional criminal, he had short shrift. Crime syndicates flourished elsewhere, but not under Parker. In protecting the public he drew no color line—all criminals looked alike to him and he made no more allowance for black law-breakers than white. He had a job to do — and he did it.

Now he is gone and with his passing we may have reached the end of an era — and an outmoded moral code. In the new order, the time may come when Los Angeles will have a police chief who really understands the social revolution. Maybe—God help us!—even Thomas Kilgore himself.

In which case, I'm moving to Alaska, which seems too far away for even the Southern Christian Leadership walkers to march to. And, if they do start, I'll have long enough warning to evacuate. Next stop, the North Pole.

Chest Pains Not Always Heart Attack

NEW YORK—Chest pain is not always caused by a heart attack. Swallowing air can produce pain that simulates the symptoms of true angina pectoris.

Dramatic response of such pain to the drug Phazyme, a preparation that disperses gas in the gastrointestinal tract, has been reported by a New Jersey heart specialist.

Only five of 30 patients failed to get quick relief with the drug, Dr. Manuel J. Rowen of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, N.J., said, and those five were shown to be suffering from other more serious conditions.

"Physicians must daily differentiate between life-threatening angina and frightening but benign pseudoangina," said Dr. Rowen. "This critical decision must be made with imperfect instruments, non-specific chemistry tests and a possibly erratic history in an already prevailing atmosphere of apprehension and fear of death."

State Seeks Tunnel Bids

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state department of water resources has called for bids for a $35 million tunnel-building job for three miles through the Tehachapi Mountains.

The tunnels will be designed to carry 110 million gallons of water and hour to state project users in Southern California. The Tehachapi tunnels 1, 2, and 3 and siphon 1 will be excavated in Kern County, about six miles east of Lebec. Completion is scheduled for 1969.

Bids for the work will be opened in Sacramento Sept. 29.

Prices Weak, Stock Market Stays Active

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.6 million shares, compared with 7.06 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

The market rose moderately in early trading in a reversal of yesterday's severe loss and then started sinking as trading volume picked up.

Gains of a point and more by key issues were whittled in some instances to fractions.

Aircrafts, electronics and airlines, which were strong in early trading, lost ground. United Aircraft and United Air Lines still held gains of better than a point. Douglas lost a point.

Johnson and Johnson advanced almost 3 points and Searle gained more than a point following a report from Milan, Italy, that Pope Paul might permit Catholic couples to use birth control pills up to two years after each birth.

Goodrich and U.S. Rubber de-

Gains of about a point were made by General Electric, MGM and IBM.

Gains that had ranged up to more than $1 a share evaporated in midafternoon, and at 3 p.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stocks was off 3.61 points at 849.22.

Aircraft, electronics and airline stocks again lost ground after showing strength early in the day.

Dividend Declared

SAN FRANCISCO—Directors of Consolidated Freightways, Inc. have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share, payable Aug. 19 to shareholders of record Aug. 5.

140 Per Cent Profit Reaped

SEATTLE—Tally Corp. reaped a 140 per cent profit increase on a sales gain of 80 per cent during the first six months of 1966, compared with the same period a year ago, it was announced today.

The company's order backlog at midyear stood at $5,217,000, a record high and $3.5 million greater than reported the same period a year ago.

Philip E. Renshaw, chairman, also reported that the Seattle-based firm has reached agreements with companies in England and France which will permit the future assembly and sale of Tally-designed products in those countries. One will involve an acquisition.

Retail Sales Are Rising

Despite heavy Christmas buying and higher social security taxes, Californians spent $544 million more during January, February and March for taxable goods than in those months a year ago.

Paul R. Leake of the State Board of Equalization, which administers the 4 per cent sales and use tax, has credited record employment with the crease.

Retail sales in Marin County totaled $48,090,000 in the first three months, 6.3 per cent gain over the 1965 period.

San Diego led the urban counties' increase with nearly 12 per cent followed by Contra Costa at 11 per cent.

Musical Instrument Firm Moves To Bigger Quarters

Sherman Clay and Co. has moved to new enlarged quarters at the southwest corner of Fourth and C streets, San Rafael.

The 96-year old piano, organ and musical instrument firm, which has been located at 1029 C Street for the past three years, has taken over and remodeled into one large store the premises formerly occupied by Scandinavian Designs and the Wide Horizon Shop.

San Rafael manager Margo Margossian said the new location has twice as much floor space as the former store and also has a large basement for storage. The company hopes to acquire additional space upstairs later, he said, for studios. At the present time a school of music is maintained at 817 D Street.

Sherman Clay originally opened several years ago in San Rafael at 963 Grand Avenue. Margossian, previously with the Oakland store, became local manager in May, 1964.

The company, headquartered in Burlingame and headed by Donald Ravitch as president, operates 33 stores in the western states. It is a retail outlet for Steinway, Chickering, Kimball and Aldrich pianos; Hammond organs; RCA, Sylvania, Hoffman, Fisher and Clairtone television and stereo sets; orchestra and band instruments and sheet music.

Another Don's Market Grocery Store Opens At Forest Knolls

Forest Knolls has a grocery store open again—another Don's Market (No. 2), opened by Andy Isetta in the old Roma's Market location.

Since last February when Moulton's Mercantile Co. burned to the ground, local residents have had to do their shopping elsewhere.

Isetta's number one market is on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax and the new addition keeps him and his family commuting. Fortunately he is also getting some help at the Forest Knolls store from Roma Weaver, who used to operate here.

THERE HAS BEEN a change in the sports car manufacturing operations of British Motor Car Distributors, Ltd., at 45 Duffy Place, San Rafael.

New name is Huffaker Automotive Engineering Corp., in which Joseph Huffaker is now teamed up with Kjell Qvale of San Francisco to turn out modified sports racing and formula cas in addition to those of British Motors. The San Rafael plant is currently finishing work on a racing car to be entered in this year's Canadian-American Sport Car Races.

INCIDENTALLY, anyone might think the sporty MGB-GT advertised in the window of Chris Craft Sales of San Rafael at something over $30,000 is one of Huffaker's special built jobs—but read along further. Among the "accessories" is a 36-foot Chris Craft cruiser.

Winter

Jamieson

S.L. (ROY) WINTER of Kentfield has been promoted to vice president of Tenneco Chemicals, Inc., Cal/Ink Division. He is manager of Northern California operations. Until 1960 he managed the Salt Lake City branch, then was called to San Francisco as head of the new branch under construction at that time.

DUANE L. BUTLER of Novato has been promoted to credit officer in the real estate loan department of Wells Fargo Bank's head office in San Francisco. He joined the bank in 1964 with nine years previous experience as an appraiser in Marin County.

INSURANCE. V. N. (Bill) Azar of Mill Valley, associated with the San Francisco agency of Fidelity Mutual Life, has returned from attending the company's convention at Lake Placid, N.Y.

NEW DENTAL OFFICE to be opened at 1368 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, Aug. 2 is that of Dr. William Whitcomb of Terra Linda, who has spent the past five years at San Jose. Besides weekdays he will remain open on Saturdays and two nights a week.

Martinez

ANTONIO MARTINEZ of Terra Linda has been promoted from assistant manager to assistant vice president in the international division of Bank of California's head office in San Francisco. He joined the bank in 1964 with seven years of banking experience and was made assistant manager the following year.

BRUCE FLANAGAN of San Rafael, executive vice president and managing officer of Civic Federal Savings and Loan Assn., San Francisco, has been elected to its board of directors and executive committee.

Venezuelan Team Gets Points On Deft Playing Of Straziota

In the 1966 world championships, held in Italy three months ago, the Venezuelan team took third place, beating Holland and Thailand.

It was the first time a South American team had won a match in world championship play, and much of the credit was due to the fine card play of Renato Straziota and Mario Onorati.

Opening lead — ♡ K

Somboon Nandhabiwat opened with one heart, which has partner, Benno Gimkiewicz, passed.

REOPENED

TRUMP FINESSE

When West showed out, declarer knew that East had started with the king of spades as well as the presumed queen of clubs.

Since East had passed the opening bid he could not have the queen of diamonds as well as the king of spades and the queen of clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ A Q J 4
♡ 10 5 2
♦ A J 8
♣ 7 6 3.

ANSWER: Pass.

ALMANAC

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase; the morning stars are Mars, Venus and Saturn. there are no evening stars.

In 1941, Gen. Douglas MacArthur became commander of the American forces in the Philippines. Five months later Japan attacked Pearl Harbor.

A thought for the day — George Bernard Shaw said: "The worst sin toward our fellow creatures is not to hate them, but to be indifferent to them: that's the essence of inhumanity."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Tears In Venturi's Eyes As He Talks Of Tony Lema

By MILTON RICHMAN

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—There were tears in Ken Venturi's eyes, and he kept looking straight ahead so they wouldn't spill down his cheeks as he talked about his friend, Tony Lema.

Down through the years, the two golfers who had grown up together in the same San Francisco Bay area had their battles, both on the fairways and off, but there was always this strong indefinable bond between them.

"We were very close," said Venturi, still looking off in the distance.

"As kids, we were always fighting. We had our arguments even when he grew up, but they were the kind of arguments brothers have.

"Heck, he lived at our house for quite awhile. My mother gave him his first pair of golf shoes. He was like a member f our family. My wife, Conni is all shaken up over this."

Venturi learned of Lema's tragic death in a plane crash only hours after he had returned to his motel room following last Sunday's final round of the PGA championship in which both had competed.

Many didn't know about the disaster until they came down to breakfast yesterday morning. One of those who found out at that time was Miller Barber, who had played in the same threesome with Lema for the first two rounds of the PGA.

"He kept saying how tired he was," Barber recalled. "He said he was all worn out and he was going home to rest for three weeks after that pro-AM in Chicago."

That was where Lema was heading when the end came. He was going to be paid $250 for his appearance.

The tall, good-looking 32-year-old Lema had hundreds of friends on the golf circuit, but he wasn't particularly close to any of them, unless it was Venturi. He was a loner who usually went out and did things by himself.

"I liked ol' Tony," declared Gay Brewer. "He was an individualist and sometimes he rubbed people the wrong way, but he was a good guy. It's hard to believe he's gone."

My personal recollection of Lema is that he was a fellow who was quick with a smile or a quip and an individual who had a side that few knew.

He could, primarily because of his golfing ability, walk with kings, which he did, or he could walk alone to church and attend mass, which he also did on the very morning of his death.

With me, he liked to talk baseball and any time he was in a golf slump, he used to kid about maybe trying out for the Mets.

"I was a pretty good hitter in my day," he'd laugh. "Do you think I could do them any good?"

Giants, Dodgers Narrow Gap

Marichal Tames Pirates

By MURRAY CHASS

Some of his more zealous fans at home say if he wanted to run, Juan Marichal could be elected president of the Dominican Republic.

Marichal, however, wouldn't win any popularity contest in the National League, especially with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

But then, neither would Herman Franks.

Franks and Marichal teamed up yesterday and sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 2-1 victory over the first-place Pirates. The triumph moved the Giants to within two percentage points of the lead.

Marichas, the ace righthander or the league, originally was scheduled to pitch against Philadelphia Sunday. But Giant Manager Franks decided to save him for the opener of the crucial three-game series with Pittsburgh.

6-HITTER

He stopped the Pirates on six-hits halted Roberto Clemente's hitting streak at 17 games, didn't walk anyone and scored the eventual deciding run after an alert bit of base running.

Taken together that gave Marichal his 16th victory against four defeats, his 16th complete game in 23 starts and an earned run average of 1.95.

In the only other NL games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-3 and New York trimmed Houston 6-4.

The Giants handed rookie Woody Fryman his fifth defeat against eight victories. They did it by scoring two runs in the third inning.

OLLIE SINGLES

Tito Fuentes followed with a single, driving in Brown, and when Fryman, backing up the plate, tried to get Fuentes coming back to first, Marichal darted for third and made it. He then came home as Hal Lanier grounded into a double play.

The third-place Dodgers moved to within 1½ games of the top by breaking a 3-3 tie with a three-run rally in the eighth. Al Ferrara singled across the first run, Dick Stuart the second and the third came across on Jim Gilliam's grounder.

Pitcher Dennis Ribant stroked a two-run single that climaxed a four-run outburst in the eighth inning and gave New York enough runs for its record fifth straight victory over Houston.

The Astros rallied for two runs in the bottom of the eighth with the help of a dropped fly ball by Billy Murphy and one in the ninth on Sonny Jackson's run-scoring single, but that's as close as they could come.

Fred Whitfield powered Cleveland's victory, slamming two homers and a single and driving in three runs. Joe Azcue also homered for the Indians.

Giants 1-2 Pitching Punch Best Since Team Came West In 1958

HANLEY

Success or failure of a baseball team in a 162-game season invariably is determined by front line pitching and the bullpen. A single ball game may be won on a homer or lost on an error. But over the long haul pitching wins or loses pennants.

OF COURSE, all knowledgeable baseball fans are fully aware of this. They are not inclined to get jittery about other weaknesses of a ball club provided it has good front line starters and a reasonably reliable bullpen.

The Giants this season have the best front line pitching since they moved to the Golden Gate in 1958. It's true that Jack Sanford and Billy Pierce, plus Don Larsen's Bullpen help, did wondrous things in 1962 when the Giants won their last pennant. And it also is true that Sam Jones and Johnny Antonelli almost won a pennant in 1959.

HOWEVER, NEITHER Sanford and Pierce nor Jones and Antonelli were the equal of this season's one-two pitching punch of the Giants, Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry. Together, Marichal and Perry have prevented the Giants from going into any dip deeper than three games this year.

So if Marichal and Perry continue to do what they have been doing, the Giants, regardless of hitting slumps or an inability to make the DP, are going right down to the wire with the other contenders for the 1966 National League flag.

ANY SENSIBLE BASEBALL fan knows that if Don Drysdale didn't have his pitching problems this year, the Dodgers would be comfortably leading the pack again this year. Sandy Koufax and Drysdale won 49 between them last season. With Claude Osteen's 15 victories added to the 49, the Dodgers had all the edge they needed.

Thus far, the Giants haven't anything resembling a 15-game winner behind Marichal and Perry. Bob Bolin wound up the first half of the season with a jammed left ankle and a 5-5 record. Bolin's five wins are the most contributed by any of the secondary Giant pitchers although Lindy McDaniel has won six in relief and saved three other games.

STILL BOLIN COULD find himself in the final months of the 1966 campaign. BB wasn't at all impressive during the weekend against the Phillies when he made his first start after 15 days on the disabled list. But he always has been a strong finisher. Last year he was 11-2 during the second half of the season.

The biggest disappointment of the Giant pitching staff is Ray Sadecki. The ex-Cardinal southpaw for whom Orlando Cepeda was traded on May 8 has won only two games in 12 starts since the trade, both over Cincinnati, one in Crosley Field, the other in Candlestick Park. He drew no-decisions in five and lost the other five.

WHEN THEY SWAPPED Cepeda for Sadecki the Giants thought Sadecki would be a sure winner in Candlestick, a park that favors southpaws. There still is time for Sadecki to prove the trade wasn't a big mistake.

If he doesn't, Cepeda's admirers, who have been howling ever since May 8, are going to begin screaming.

30 Wins For Marichal?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Thirty wins for Juan Marichal?

The question is stirring again now that the San Francisco Giants' prized righthander has a 16-4 record with the season slightly more than past the halfway point.

"A person would have to be awfully lucky as well as good to win 30 games," he said yesterday just after pitching the Giants to a 2-1 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates and cutting their league lead to two percentage points. "It would be tough to do because all of the fine fielding, batting and pitching which we now have in this league. You never know."

Marichal retired the first 15 Pirates who faced him before giving up a leadoff double to Jim Pagliaroni who went on to score the lone Pittsburgh run in the sixth inning.

Caldwell Signs

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joe Caldwell, who averaged 14.6 points in 46 games with the St. Louis Hawks last season, signed his contract Monday for the 1966-67 National Basketball Association season.

Officials Probing Lema Plane Crash

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board investigative team searched today for new clues to the crash of a private plane that killed world golfing star Tony Lema, his wife and two other persons.

George Green, CAB field superintendent, said investigators were looking into the possibility of engine failure as the cause of the crash.

The twin-engine craft was en route to the Chicago-Hammond Airport from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had just completed play in the PGA tourney.

The pilot, Mrs. Doris Mullen, 43, of Joliet, Ill., and the copilot, Dr. George Bard, 41, of Kankakee, Ill., also died when the small plane plunged into the ground at a golf course and burst into flames.

"We are going to look into reports from several sources," Green said yesterday, "that there was trouble in the power system (engines). We don't have a weather problem or a darkness problem. So investigation may be made somewhat easier than some because we have a few things we can eliminate."

Lema, 32, and his wife, Betty, were going to Crete, Ill., where the 1964 British Open champion was scheduled to play in yesterday's $12,000 Lincolnshire Open.

The pilot's husband, Dr. Wylie Mullen, was waiting at the airport. He and his wife were investors in the company that owned the plane, Mainline Aviation of Joliet.

Mullen said the plane made a swing around the field, with no indication of trouble, but one or both engines cut out as it glided low over the nearby golf course, then started briefly.

When the engines died the second time, the plane descended, swerved to avoid a group of people, struck the ground and bounded into the edge of a lagoon where it exploded in flames.

49ers Report No Word From John Brodie

MORAGA, Calif. (AP)—Lou Spadia, general manager of the San Francisco 49ers, told reporters yesterday that communication with holdout quarterback John Brodie is non-existent.

"He has not contacted me; in fact, I have not heard from him since he went to Hawaii," Spadia said.

He also asked reporters to quit questioning 49er Coach Jack Christiansen and address all questions about Brodie to himself. "Whatever the problem with John," Spadia said, 'Chris has not been, nor is he now, involved."

There have been reports that Brodie is asking $1 million to sign. He was offered a three-year, $750,000 contract in May by the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. But the merger between the AFL and the National Football League killed that deal.

Other than the non-development on Brodie, there wasn't much happening at the 49ers training camp. A picture taking session was held in the morning and a no-contact workout in the afternoon.

Giants Again Pass Million Mark At Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Giants went over the million mark yesterday for home attendance as 22,191 turned out at Candlestick Park to watch the Giants win 2-1 over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants have never failed to draw more than 1 million fans a season since coming to San Francisco in 1958. They have drawn 1,009,684 so far this season.

Russia's Track Team Leads Poles

MINSK, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Russia's track and field forces, minus some of their top stars, held a slim lead today over Poland in a meet set up after the two Communist countries boycotted meets in the United States.

The two men's teams were tied at 42-all and the Russian women led the Poles 32-30, giving the Soviet Union a 74-72 lead after yesterday's opening of the two-day meet, Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported.

Eduard Gushchin of Russia did better the Soviet shot put record by four inches with a heave of 63 feet, 19½ inches, but it was far short of the world mark of 70-7¼ held by Randy Matson of Texas A&M.

Viktor Kudinsky with a 14:27 clocking in the 5,000-meter run, Anatoly Mikhailov with 13.8 in the 110-meter hurdles, and Janis Lucis with 279-3 in the javelin were the other Russian men winners.

Griffith To Give Tiger A Shot At His Crown

LONDON (AP) — Emile Griffith of New York will defend his world middleweight boxing title against Nigeria's Dick Tiger in London Nov. 22, promoter Jack Solomons announced today.

"The managers of both boxers have agreed to my terms," said Solomons, but he did not disclose what they were.

The promoter said the only outstanding problem was whether the fight could be televised live to the United States via the Early Bird satellite.

Griffith, who also held the World Boxing Association's welterweight title earlier in the year, retained the middleweight crown against Joey Archer in New York July 13.

The fight will be staged at London's indoor Wembley Arena, which could seat around 10,000.

Solomons said the only thing that could hold it up would be if he fails to make a deal for closed circuit television coverage of the bout in the United States.

KOUFAX'S ARM HURTS WITH EVERY PITCH

Koufax, who hurled 168 pitches against the New York Mets Saturday, is reported to be suffering the greatest pain of his baseball career in his arthritic left elbow. The Los Angeles pitcher recently had his first elbow shot of the season and he is taking three pain pills instead of his usual two, according to Dr. Robert Kerlan, Dodger team physician.

Dr. Kerlan explaired that medicines can give Koufax some relief, but he will still feel pain "with every pitch."

HOW'S THAT FOR TAKING BULL BY THE HORN?

They say anything can happen at a bullfight and last Sunday Spanish matador Miguel Angel proved it when he didn't suspect his opponent would stoop so low and he found himself taking the bull by the horns. The buli slipped a horn under Angel's belt and held him helpless 10 inches off the ground for a few seconds before the matador could get free. Angel suffered only minor injuries psysically, but his pride took the worst blow. (AP Wirephoto)

Pro Football Cuts Come In All Sizes

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several rookies were cut by professional football clubs; several Chicago Bears were fined for not cutting — extra weight — and the Detroit Lions weren't being cut, they were walking away.

One of the biggest cuts yesterday was George Sutor, a 6-foot-7, former LaSalle basketbal player, who was released by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

On the other end of the scale was 5-foot-10 Ken Lucas, former University of Pittsburgh quarterback, who was released by the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers because he had trouble seeing over big, on-rushing lineman.

Meanwhile, in the camp of the Chicago Bears, 12 players were fined $50 daily for being overweight and threatened with $200 fines starting next Sunday if they are not at playing weight.

"We are not making the progress expected at this stage of training camp," said Owner-Coach George Halas, one of the NFL's founders. "We are being held back principally by 12 overweight players. They are being fined $50 a day from July 22, but that is small consolation to the coaches."

The 12 players were not named.

Things were not well in the camp of the NFL Lions, either. Flanker Pat Studstill walked out of camp in a salary dispute, joining three other unsigned players who have refused to participate in practice sessions.

They are defensive end Darris McCord, offensive guard John Gordy and offensive tackle Ted Karris. Each is being fined $100 a day for missing training.

The Washington Redskins waived seven players, but two of them, defensive halfback Hal Seymour of Florida and halfback Tom Michel, were designated as injured and will remain club property.

The five given regular waivers included tackle Mike Bundra, linebackers Al Watershield of West Texas State and Dick Fugere of Cincinnati, flanker Dick Griesheim of Illinois Teachers and defensive back Dave Bowden of Fort Valley, Ga. State.

Bundra is a three-time loser, having had trials with the New York Giants and Baltimore Colts.

The only American Football League club reporting cuts was San Diego. The Chargers released place kicker Oscar Bonetto, a soccer star at the University of Argentina, and end Jerome Bell from Central Oklahoma.

The cuts included:

St. Louis — defensive tackle Alfred Rogers, Florida A&M; defensive back Wayne Paulson, Illinois.

Philadelphia — fullback Pete Didonato, Wichita State.

Son Of Bold Ruler Sold For $200,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Johnny Longden, a resident of the winner's circle more than any other jockey, has tried his hand in the thoroughbred auction ring and established another record.

Longden paid $200,000 yesterday for a brown son of Bold Ruler, the most ever for a yearling, as horsemen aimed for a record gross at the annual Keeneland summer sale.

The record was set last year when the sale grossed $5,068,300. The Bold Ruler-La Dauphine colt helped push yesterday's sales to $2,483,320, with two sessions today.

The big colt was from the consignment of Leslie Combs II's Spendthrift Farm of Lexington, which established another near-record. Spendthrift's 25 yearlings sold for $801,500, just $600 short of the mark Combs set last year with 27 head.

ACTING AS AGENT

Longden, acting as agent for Frank McMahon, Vancouver, B.C., spent $310,000 himself in yesterday's two session, in which 146 head were auctioned. He said he was "ready to go as high as I had to" to get the Bold Ruler colt.

Longden rode 6,017 winners through the 1965 season, his mounts winning $24,536,900. He retired this year to become McMahon's trainer.

The previous record high for a yearling was $170,000, paid here in 1964 by Velma Morrison for Gem State Stables. That colt, One Bold Bid by Bold Ruler, still hasn't raced.

La Dauphine was sold at auction for $177,000 while in foal with the yearling Longden bought, a record for a mare. She was bought by Charles Wacker, Chicago, from Combs and John W. Hanes in the fall of 1964.

Combs was not surprised at the colt's record price. "I thought he would bring $150,000-$200,000," he said. Bert Martin, San Marino, Calif., stopped bidding at $195,000, 13 jumps after the bidding began at $50,000.

"I just thought he'd go for $195,000," Martin said, "but he went for more and I didn't get him."

The highest-priced filly of the first two sessions was a daughter of Swaps-Times from Combs' consignment. She was bought by Fourth Estate Stable for $61,000.

The top price of the afternoon session was $50,000 paid by L.L. Haggin II for Dr. and Mrs. Frank P. Miller's colt by Fleet Nasrullah, out of Mrs. E.B.

STENGEL, WILLIAMS HONORED

Big Crowd Salutes Hall Of Famers

By JACK HAND

"I once hit against Walter Johnson," Stengel started up again while the record crowd of 6,000 soaked up every word at Cooper Park, behind the Hall of Fame building.

Stengel, 75, and Williams, 47, were being formally inducted into the Hall yesterday and this quaint, historic community was bulging at the seams.

"It was after the season," Stengel went on. "I was hitting about third or fourth in the National League and thought I was some hitter. They had a special homecoming day for Johnson at Coffeyville (Kan.). They came out in buggies to watch Johnson pitch a 1-0 shutout.

"The next morning the Kansas City Star story read 'Casey Stengel's inability to hit in the pinches lost the game.' This is my home town, you know. I was supposed to be quite an athlete — football and basketball player.

KEEPS 'EM LAUGHING

"There was only one fella got on base all day — Pete Kilduff. So I told him 'You're to blame for the whole thing. If you hadn't got on base, I couldn't have failed to hit in the pinches."

The laughter rolled over the grassy plain and spilled into the shade trees on the fringes where some lucky people huddled to beat the heat.

Stengel's oration hit all the stops. He opened with Babe Ruth and worked his way through Grover Cleveland Alexander, Johnson, Joe McCarthy, Bill Terry, Joe Cronin, Joe Engel. ("He'd trade a dog for a dog") and wound up with Bill Dickey, Yogi Berra, Williams and the Mets.

"That Williams would stare at a pitcher when he was warming up and he already had attacked that man. He was the most aggressive hitter I ever saw," Casey said. "After Bobby Doerr left the Red Sox, I told my Yankee pitchers never to throw the ball over the plate to Mr. Williams. We tried to get him to go for the ball but his judgment standing sideways was better than the umpires standing straight."

FINE TALK

Williams, wearing a neat white sports shirt, buttoned at the neck but with no tie, impressed the assemblage with his fine talk. He gently chided the writers with whom he often feuded and found time to thank his coach on the San Diego playgrounds, his high school coach and managers under whom he played in the majors and minors.

He also singled out the late Eddie Collins, Hall of Famer, and owner Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox for special attention.

Ted put in a pitch for future Hall of Fame membership for Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson "as a symbol of the great Negro players that are not here only because they were not given a chance."

Williams obviously was impressed by the occasion, as was Stengel. Ted couldn't resist a jab at the press.

GIVES THANKS

"I guess every player thinks about going into the Hall of Fame," he said . . . "I find it difficult to say what is really in my heart, but I know it's the greatest thrill of my life.

"I received 280 odd votes (282 of a possible 302) from the writers. I know I didn't have 280 close friends among the writers. I know they voted for me because they felt in their minds, and some in their hearts, that I rated it and I want to say to them 'thank you.' Thank you from the bottom of my heart."

"I am glad to be with Casey on his big day. I also know I'll lose a dear friend if I don't stop talking. I'm eating into his time and that is unforgiveable."

Pony League Tournament Opens Today

Pony League All-Star Tournament action gets underway tonight when the North Marin and South Marin leagues play a best-of-three-game series to determine who will represent the Marin district in the Sectional Tournament Aug. 2-5 in Petaluma.

The first game in the series is slated for 6 p.m. tonight at the North Marin Field near the Marin County Civic Center with the second game scheduled Thursday at the Richardson Bay School Field in Sausalito. Should a third game be necessary, it will be played at the North Marin Field Saturday.

A victory in the Sectional Tournament will send the winner to the Santa Clara finals and then to Ralston, Neb., during the last part of August to compete for the championship title in the Pony League World Series.

Crucial Soccer Match On Tonight's Schedule

LONDON (AP) — Goal-hunting Eusebio of Portugal faced Nobby Stiles, the iron tackler of England, in a duel today that could decide the World Soccer Cup.

Critics saw the clash between the two men as the key to the semifinal at London's Wembley Stadium. And Eusebio himself — top scorer in the tournament with seven goals — said French referee Pierre Schwinte must watch Stiles' tackles.

"Stiles is a hard man," said the Black Pather of Mozambique. "I don't mind playing against him. I am not afraid.

"But he has been allowed to get away with too many things in the World Cup. I have watched England's games on television and have seen Stiles going in a bit hard.

"The referee has taken the number of a player on the other side, but has not taken any action against England's players."

The winner of today's game will meet West Germany in the final next Saturday. The Germans downed Russia 2-1 at Liverpool last night in a game which saw Russia's Igor Chislenko sent off the field.

That makes five players sent off since the tournament started two weeks ago. The other four have all been suspended for varying periods by the disciplinary committee of the World Soccer Federation (FIFA).

Stiles has been cautioned once during the tournament. He is a key figure in an England defense that has not conceded a single goal in four games so far.

No other team in the tournament has such a record.

New Track-Field Group Formed By Bob Schul

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A new organization, the International Track and Field Athletes of America, was formed Sunday as a "prestige group for the betterment of the athlete and the sport."

The group, organized by Bob Schul, who was the gold medalist in the 5,000 meter run at the Tokyo Olympics, will take memberships from all male track performers who have ever been on a U.S. national team.

"This is not a group to take over from any other, but its aim is to help the Amateur Athletic Union in controlling and coordinating the sport," Schul explained.

"We hope to act as an advisory body to the AAU, but with enough prestige so that our opinions will be acted upon.

"We believe sincerely that the sport is for the athlete and we want to work with the AAU in coordinating and policy making."

Top Seeds Triumph In Net Tourney

SOUTHORANGE, N.J. (UPI) —Form held up in perfect fashion on the opening day of the Eastern Grass Courts tennis championships yesterday with the top seven seeds in the men's singles all winning and Wimbledon champion Billie Jean King also coming through in fine style.

Mrs. King, making her first appearance in the United States since winning the Wimbledon title last month, routed Elizabeth Blackford of Seattle, Wash., 6-0, 6-0, in 38 minutes. The Alhambra, Calif., resident is the No. 1 seed here.

Cliff Richey of Dallas, Tex., seeded first in the men's division, had little difficulty in beating Roy Barth of San Diego, Calif., 6-4, 6-2, in a first-round match while second-seeded Tony Roche of Australia thrashed George Taylor of Houston, 6-0, 6-0.

Third-seeded Charley Pasarell of Santruce, P.R., defeated Californian Dick Leach, 6-3, 6-4; fourth-seeded Owen Davidson of Australia stopped James Pressly Jr. of Palm Beach, Fla., 6-3, 6-2.

Washington Swaps Hurlers With Farm Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators swapped pitchers with their Hawaii farm club today sending Diego Segui to the Islanders and bringing up left-hander Frank Kreutzer.

They also recalled catcher Jim French from Syracuse and placed ailing receiver John Orsino on the disabled list again.

Kreutzer, 4-7 last year with the Senators, has an 8-6 record and a 3.61 earned run average this season with Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League.

Segui, acquired in April for an estimated $22,000 from Kansas City, will take a 3-7 mark and a 5.00 ERA to the Islands.

The catching staff was down to one man until French was recalled from the minors for the second time this season. Orsino was placed on the disabled list for the second time after his elbow became puffed up Sunday in its first test since a May operation.

Milt Woodard Takes AFL Post

The 55-year-old Woodard, a native of Tacoma, Wash., stepped into the shoes of his old boss, Joe Foss, when the 37-yer-old Davis quit yesterday in a move that had been long rumored. Davis had replaced Foss as commissioner last April 6.

Davis' resignation had been expected since the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, effective in 1970. Davis had opposed t he merger.

"I don't know what my position will be when the merger becomes effective in 1970," Woodard said. "That's up to the owners to decide. I have not yet actually signed my contract, but I believe it will be for at least three years.

"I couldn't turn down this opportunity," he added.

Woodard had been assistant to Foss until Davis took office. He went to Florida then on private business while retaining a part-time status with the AFL.

Under the terms of the AFL-NFL merger Pete Rozelle, the NFL Commissioner, will be the over-all boss.

"No one knows the AFL better than Woodard," said Ralph Wilson, owner of the Buffalo Bills who announced the executive changes. "His experience will be invaluable in guiding us through the transitions we will experience during the next few years."

Davis would not reveal his plans, but said he would continue to serve the league in an advisory capacity. It is considered likely he will collect the remainder of his five-year contract at an estimated $60,000 annually.

Steve Miller Runs Record To 3 And 4

Steve Miller of San Anselmo, pitcher for the Salisbury, N.C. Astros of the Western Carolina League, picked up a win in the last reported week from Player Periscope of Novato, going the distance.

Miller, former Drake High School athlete, ran his record to 3-4. He allowed only five hits, walked four and struck out five. His high earned average was dropped to 6.41.

Frank Burch of San Rafael, playing for Cocoa, of the Florida State League, pitched 10 innings of two games and was stung with a loss, allowing four hits and walking eight in the two games. His ERA is a fine 2.14.

PAPERS RECALL THE PAST

By GARY ARTOUX

Do you remember such great names as Rube Waddell, Dizzy Dean, Harry Brecheen, Dixie Walker, Stan Musial, Ray Mueller, Plank, Bender, Coombs, Strunk, McInnis, Earnshaw and all the other veterans of baseball?

Remember the Sacramento War Bond game in '44 when $2,700,000 was raised to buy war bonds? Remember when Oriole Park in Baltimore burned to the ground on July 4, 1944? and remember Peter Gray, the one-armed outfielder for the Memphis Chicks who battled .300?

It's all piece of athletic history now, fleeting shadows, lost memories, but everything's there in Bruce Herriges dated collection of the St. Louis Sporting News, a little yellowed on the pages, but still living on.

Herriges, who lives at 20 Twelveoak Hill Drive in Lucas Valley, has been collecting the Sporting News since 1943, when he was 10 years old. "I was really crazy about baseball, and a friend and I went to just about every game held in San Francisco," he said pointing out dates he had underscored in a 1943 issue as a reminder to attend home games.

The Sporting News, carrying the motto "Baseball Paper of the World," was started in 1904 and offers articles and tidbits about major and minor league baseball to its readers. Included are such features as "Looping the Loops" (a baseball commentary), statistical results of the major and minor leagues, and "The Oracle," a column of prophecies in the baseball world.

Herriges collected so many copies of the weekly publication that his father, a contractor, built him a special cabinet with slide-out shelves several years ago to accommodate the ever-growing pile of newspapers. Herriges now has about 500 issues packed in boxes in his basement and he explains that he has promised his wife he will part with the beloved papers.

"I was going to sell them at first, but the nearest interested rare book and periodical firm was in Los Angeles," Herriges said woefully, "so now I'm going to give them to anyone who would like to have such an aged and slightly mildewed memento."

So if you want to read about your childhood baseball heroes and the "good old days" of baseball, ask your wife if you can fit the papers in your basement. Then, whenever the urge to recall the "old days" occurs, you can sneak down and read all you want about them.

Raiders Give Vet A Chance

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—The Oakland Raiders, in summer training here, apparently plan to make the most of their new acquisition, American Football League veteran Dick Harris.

Harris, a former all-AFL defensive back with the San Diego Chargers, was signed as a free agent. Already he's being tested at right cornerback, where his six years' experience may be most needed.

Harris is a compact 5-foot-11, 190-pounder. He has the speed and know-how to also rate consideration as a punt return man, a job he held with the Chargers.

Salmon Found Near Farallones; Striped Bass Trolling Slackens

STEVENS

The lost has been found. After frustrating days of search, the main school of salmon has been located near the Farallones. Judging by the reports, large Chinooks dominate the catches made on Saturday and Sunday. For example, from Lee Anderson's shop in Oakland, the boat Miss Dragnet came to port on Saturday with 18 salmon weighing up to 35 pounds; the Wilma H had 15 salmon to 26 pounds; the Lucky Day No. 2 unloaded 11 to 30 pounds, and the Hazel B, with a short load, picked up 7 to 35 pounds.

Also reported by Lee Anderson's shop was the boat into which went in for variety, netting 4 halibut to 15 pounds, 8 nice stripers, and 4 ling cod.

NO ACTUAL REPORT on what the deep sea rockfishing boats did but rumor has it that two of the rockfishing boats had a field day on Saturday.

Re striped bass, apparently the late evening trolling in the Upper San Pablo Bay slackened a bit. Skipper Arnie of the Dowrelio No. 5 out of Crockett reported about a fish, per rod, but with better tides from now on, it may be expected the wild and woolly late trolling will revert to the wonderful late evening trolling of a week ago. The No. 5 boat out of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor with 10 rods working on Friday evening netted 10 stripers to 21 pounds. The boat Millie Linn had six bass. Also reported by Arnie was the good catch of flounders—big fellows, two and three-pounders.

APPARENTLY THE main schools of bass moved downstream the last 48 hours. The boat Trade Winds netted 5 limits of bass to 14 pounds while fishing off Point San Pablo.

I have had one letter and two phone calls recently asking for the approximate location of Lake Ralphine, Lake Mendocino and Hammerhorn Reservoir. Perhaps some of my other readers are wondering also. Hardly any ordinary maps show the location—, Lake Mendocino may be found about 10 miles from Ukiah on U.S. Highway 101, or Highway 20; The Hammerhorn Reservoir is above Eureka and Ralphine Lake is not far from Santa Rosa.

CLEAR LAKE AND Berryessa reported better than average blackie trolling and both claim crappies and blue gills rampant. Clear Lake mentioned big channel catfish as well as mud cats cooperating day and night. Salmon fishing in the upper Sacramento? A report phoned in but unverified has it that salmon fishing in the Sacramento, in the vicinity of Meridian, has yielded some lunker fish, but no limits reported.

Lest you forget, the Archery Season (early) closes on Sunday, and on the following Saturday, Aug. 6, the regular early season on deer opens in much of the state. If in doubt, consult your 1966 Hunting Regulations booklet.

Location Change In L'l League Tourney

A schedule change was announced yesterday in the District 3 (Marin County) Little League All-Star Baseball Tournament which starts tonight.

The San Rafael National League and the Novato All-Stars will play tonight at 6 p.m. at the San Anselmo field and tomorrow night at the Strawberry field instead of meeting at Novato as originally planned. Finals will be played Saturday at Novato.

Farm Club Tops Parent Braves

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Richmond's International League baseball team embarrassed the parent Atlanta Braves, 5-3, last night in an exhibition game before 10,026.

Gene Oliver's home run put Atlanta ahead, 3-2, after six innings, but Richmond pulled even on Sandy Alomar's seventh-inning homer and won the game with two runs off Arnie Umbach in the eighth.

A single by Adrian Garrett, John Herrnstein's two-out double, a single by Chris Cannizzaro and an error by Denis Menke produced the deciding runs.

Jess Munyon Is Tourney MVP Winner

Jess Munyon, catcher for the Sohner Tree Service softball team, was named most valuable player in the Tri-Counties District tournament that ended Sunday.

Munyon had two home runs and batted .385 in the tourney, won by Good Spot of Sonoma. Sohner was runner-up in the 14-team tournament involving teams from Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties.

There is a good chance Sohner will receive an invitation to compete in the state tournament later. Both the winning and runner-up teams received bids last year. The Sohner team from San Anselmo won the Tri-Counties tournament last year.

Final standings:

1. Good Spot
2. Sohner Tree Service

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Screwworm Control Backfires Into Very Specialized Disease

VAN DELLEN

The screwworm fly is well known to ranchers of the southwest. The miserable critter burrows into the flesh of cattle and game leading to considerable irritation. The insect lives a year and mates only once. To control the pests, aircraft spread billions of sterilized male flies over the countryside. They seek out the lady fly of their choice and fertilize the eggs, but there are no progeny.

The excellent method of control backfired recently when one of the pilots in the fly program appeared at the door of Dr. George IV H. C. Herrmann.

He had been dispersing flies when he suddenly began to wheeze, cough, and struggle for air. The pilot made an emergency landing fearing that he might become unconscious and crash.

DR. HERRMANN asked him about the possibility of the flies causing the attack and learned that many of the pilots and dispersers were having the same symptoms. He questioned officials from the Federal Aviation agency and found that is was not entirely a local problem.

Extracts were made from screwworm scales, hairs, pupa cases, and other emanations. These were used in skin reaction testing in those having contact with the fly program and almost all had positive reactions. They were negative in a control group.

The outcome was a new occupational disease — allergy to screwworm fly dust. The condition was described recently in the Texas State Journal of Medicine. Temporary relief is obtained by inhaling isoproterenol. The corticosteroids afford more prolonged help. Complete relief occurs when the victims discontinue this type of work.

Allergy to dust containing insect scales, hairs, and other emanations is not new. Several years ago we told about an epidemic of asthma and hay fever among the inhabitants around Lake Erie during the swarming times of the mayflies and caddis flies. Tests showed that the insects were responsible.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY COSTLY

B. J. writes: Is the need for an artificial kidney an expensive service?

REPLY

Yes, and to reduce the cost some hospitals are training another member of the family to run the unit at home. The permanent equipment costs $2,000 but the yearly expense of running the machine may be as high as $10,000. This does not include blood used in priming the pump and professional help.

ARTHRITIS FROM INJURY

D. M. G. writes: What is traumatic arthritis?

REPLY

This form of arthritis usually follows injury, which may have occurred years previously. In the strict sense the arthritic condition stems from residual changes in the joint, such as roughness resulting from scar tissue, torn cartilage or ligament, or overgrowth of bone.

PALLIATIVE TREATMENT

H. H. writes: Is there any treatment for lymphosarcoma?

REPLY

Yes. There are many treatment plans including X-ray, radium, radioactive isotopes (phosphorus), nitrogen mustard, and the folic acid antagonists and the folic acid antagonists trexate).

TENSION HEADACHE

Mrs. N. writes: Why do emotional upsets cause headaches?

REPLY

Because the ensuing tension leads to a painful contraction of the blood vessels of the brain or of the muscles of the scalp.

Mill Valley Trustees Plan 'Middle School'

A plan for a "middle school" in the Project 17 area—a plan which might help solve Mill Valley's classroom crowding crisis if voters approved a bond issue within a few months—was tentatively adopted last night by trustees of the Mill Valley School District.

"With enthusiasm," added Trustee Loyce Gross, who made the motion to accept the plan in principle.

Trustee Joseph E. Bodovitz was immediately appointed to work with the administration to develop criteria toward selection of an architect for the new Camino Alto School.

Trustees said the school (under what was termed "verticle structure") would employ such approaches as team teaching and the non-graded system. They hinted they would shoot for an April bond election.

Dist. Supt. G. W. McConnell said the middle school should be constructed in connection with the recreational facilities of the City of Mill Valley—now centered at Project 17.

The middle school would be fed by four kindergarten through fifth grade elementary schools—Park, Edna Maguire (now seventh and eighth grades) and Tamalpais Valley. These, in turn would be fed by satellite kindergarten through third grade schools as necessary.

Camino Alto School would, by 1971, have the equivalent of 50 classrooms or "teaching stations" and a "direly needed auditorium and swimming pool" for southern Marin, McConnell explained. The latter facilities would be part of recreational facilities for Mill Valley and its environs.

The superintendent predicted that there would be little or no effect upon the tax rate needed to support a bond issue because of the fact that the district is now paying off the last of its state loan.

City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon told the audience of 50 it has been suggested that the city acquire the 11-acre Enchanted Knolls School site north of the present harbor in exchange for three and one-half acres of Adolph Biggio land plus whatever small amount needed to construct the 50 classrooms.

An agreement could be worked out, he added, for cooperative use of this land plus 11 or 12 acres of Pacific Gas and Electrict Co. land which the city is considering acquiring.

A Tiny Rocket With Big Punch

WASHINGTON—A tiny rocket motor with the crack of a bullwhip is being developed to push the projectiles of hand-operated rocket launchers out into the clear before they ignite.

No bigger than a flashlight, the motor produces all of its several hundred pounds of thrust in only one-twentieth of a second, which amounts to a very efficient kick. It does this by having almost the entire burning area of the propellant exposed at once.

The development that made such a rocket possible is called Foilac, a thin layer of extremely fast-burning propellant bonded to a corrugated strip of aluminum foil. In cross section it looks similar to the side wall of a corrugated cardboard box. The strip is rolled like a carpet and loaded as a cartridge into the motor casing.

Bretz Wins Award In Study Course

Andrew Bretz, manager of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, has been awarded the certificate of merit for the Advanced Management Studies course at the Institute for Organization Management at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Bretz has completed the course, held one week each year for three years. It is sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce at six universities in the nation.

Human Brain Called Excellent Computer

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — The human brain is a "honey of a computer" a psychology professor told an educational conference on computers in the classroom.

"It has several billion circuits; it can operate four hours on the energy from a single peanut; it is completely mobile; it occupies less than a cubic foot of space, and it is produced by unskilled labor," said Asst. Prof. John H. Meier of Colorado College.

Novato Council Counts Costs

The Novato City Council will hear a report on the cost of improvements to the Novato Community House when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission is studying a request to refurbish the interior of the building by Mrs. Bea Carpenter. It will also study the cost of improvements to the building to protect the new decorations. Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, will report the commission's decision to the council.

The council will also receive the first draft of a nuisance ordinance, abandon a portion of Olive Avenue, receive an expenditure and revenue report and annex 37 acres on Simmons Lane.

But Why Not Turtles Too?

San Anselmo children aged 7 and older will display their dogs, cats, birds and miscellaneous pets in a youth pet fair at 1 p.m. Friday at the city's memorial park.

The animals will be judged for size, looks, behavior, grooming, age and their containers. All entries must have been in the exhibitor's family at least three months and be in good health.

All dogs must be licensed and must wear collar and leash; cats must wear collar and leash or be in a suitable container.

Pigeon Trapping To Start Aug. 1

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The city of Saint Francis will begin trapping its unwanted 100,000 pigeons Aug. 1.

A city spokesman said yesterday that the Animal Specialty and Control Company of San Francisco will set up large wire cages on roofs and in other nesting areas.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will handle the "humane disposition" of the trapped pigeons, the spokesman said.

Dental Research Center Planned

BOSTON (AP) — Forsyth Dental Center says it has received a $100,000 grant from the Avalon Foundation of New York to help build a multimillion-dollar private dental research center. The center said it would be the largest such facility in the world.

Tamalpais Toastmasters Club 1755 has Chris Madera as its president.

TELEVISION REVIEW

British Are Coming To Your TV Screen

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI) —The British are coming—to your television screens.

And spearheading the invasion is a chubby master showman who starts smoking giant cigars at 7:30 a.m., and foresees the day when British program exports will earn his homeland $100 million a year—a large chunk of its from the United States.

His name is Lew Grade, a name to conjure with in show business circles if as yet generally unknown to the American public. He is the oldest of a dynasty of three brothers who have massive interests in British television, films, the legitimate state and in an agency for top stars.

WISHFUL THINKING

Recently in his London office Grade, as head of Associated Television, explained why the $100 million figure is not merely wishful thinking. He said his company had already grossed $7.5 million from its "Secret Agent" series (Patrick McGoohan) and it expected another of its programs "The Saint" (Roger Moore) to gross $10 million dollars before it ends its run.

Grade said he estimated his sales this year would top $15 million with the rest of the industry, including the British Broadcasting Corp., bringing the total up to $22.5 million. This could easily multiply, he said, if the postmaster general, who controls television in Britain would permit the opening of more channels and additional broadcasting hours. Networks in Britain are presently restricted to 50 hours of broadcasting a week.

Grade says he has strong American interest in two of his new shows —McGoohan's "The Prisoner" and an adventure series, "McGill"—and his price for these is in the millions.

But he is not the only Briton who wants to influence what you see on your screens and at the same time reverse the flow of sterling for the big American shows (Bonanza, Dick Van Dyke, Perry Mason et al) which have been the backbone of British prime time programming for years.

Associated British TV is going into production with a one hour color version of "The Avengers" for next season. The stars are the same, Patrick Macnee, a genuine descendant of Robin Hood, and Diana Rigg who is with the Royal Shakespeare Company when she is not inflicting karate chops on various villains. Robert Norris of San Francisco, who is an executive of the production company, says they were "very satisfied" with American reaction to the first black and white run of the show.

Christopher May Support Brown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — George Christopher, an unsuccessful Republican gubernatorial contender, says there is "one chance in a million" that he may endorse Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown for re-election.

"I obviously don't agree" with everything Ronald Reagan stands for, Christopher said yesterday in a television interview (with KPIX-TV).

Christopher also disclosed that he has been offered a United Nations position. He said high U.S. officials asked him to be "a consultant in a very, very important foreign project" for the U.N.
